"Swindle Trust" Schemes Total Nearly $20,000,000

Confessions Indicate 17 Companies Involved in Speculations.

EXPERT BANK WRECKERS
Plans Were Almost Completed for Gaining Control of Milwaukee Bank.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Big business was blamed Wednesday for the prosecution of the Charles W. French, alleged "swindle trust" by J. H. Lee, Cleveland associate of French.
Lee, wealthy son of a banker, arrested after authorities uncovered the alleged $20,000,000 bank wrecking game, told officials the "steel trust" feared French's operations to control the iron ore output of the west.
"Our arrest is the answer of big business," Lee said.
"We planned to buy many banks over the country to finance our project," said Lee. "We would have been in complete control of the iron ore output and therefore in a position to successfully combat the steel ring."
"We did not keep the purchase of our banks secret because there was anything shady about our operations."
Cleveland, Ohio—Federal officials here Wednesday seized $16,000,000 securities belonging to Charles W. French.
They had been deposited in safety boxes of a local bank. The authorities were told to the hiding place by one of the men connected with the band of swindlers.

Chicago, Ill.—Spurious stock transactions and business promotion schemes totaling close to $20,000,000 were traced Wednesday to the gang alleged to have been headed by Charles W. French.
Federal investigators made this announcement after spending the night going over records seized and confessions made by three of those arrested in connection with the gang's work.
Investigators traced operations of the gang through frenzied schemes of banking, check kiting, broken fortunes and bankruptcies.
New evidence showed at least seven companies involved in the speculations. They included banks, railroads, toll roads, housewrecking, electrical construction, automobile plants, accessories, metal, furniture, meat packing, cement, lumber and plumbing concerns.
The ramifications of the gang caused Colonel John V. Clinin, assistant United States district attorney to remark as he completed a long period of investigation that "it all goes nutty if this thing grows much greater."
The gang specialized in bank wrecking, according to evidence federal agents said they had uncovered. At the time the gang's operation was exposed, they were on the verge of completing a deal to buy a bank in Milwaukee for $800,000.
According to the plan of operation, certified checks on a Washington, D. C. bank for $500,000 would be remitted to the Milwaukee bank. As soon as the gang obtained control of the bank, they would issue $1,000,000 certificates of deposit on which money would be borrowed in Chicago and rushed to Washington to cover the checks. With the bank in their hands and dummy officials and directors, they could proceed as they desired.
Cashier Arrested
Federal agents in Washington have been asked to arrest a cashier of a bank there who would have handled the checks and covered up the transaction at that end. A. E. Stralman of Milwaukee, who was to have engineered the deal from that end, is held.
Evidence that four other banks were wrecked in this manner by the gang was obtained by the investigators and negotiations to obtain control of additional financial institutions, were exposed.
Operations of the gang in the southwest through the Pacific Trust company of Independence, Missouri, and the Guarantee Securities company of Kansas City, were uncovered.
In addition to working with banks, a string of fake manufacturing concerns, organized out of thin air or from some concern on its last business legs, was used by the "swindle trust." Fraudulent securities would be issued on these companies and sold wherever there was a market.
The confession of Alva Harshman, who was secretary to French, was obtained by District Attorney Clinin, hit by him after hours of questioning. When finally Harshman started to squeal, he told the whole story, with a bitter tirade against French.
"I've been the goat for French long enough," he said. "Everything went one way, into French's pockets. They had no outlet."
Early Wednesday Clinin started questioning James Horace Lee of Cleveland and Charles Denike of

FIGHT OVER BEER BILL MAY DELAY CONGRESS RECESS

Senator Jones Says He Will Keep Congress in Session Until It Acts.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Deadlock over the beer bill in the senate Wednesday brought legislative wheels to a standstill and threatened to block the recess due to begin Wednesday night.
Dry forces, led by Senator Sterling of South Dakota, refused to allow the beer bill to be introduced and advocates of the Stanley anti-liquor and seizure amendment stood pat and declined to take a vote on the conference report on the measure which is delaying the whole program.
Repeated efforts to get an agreement to vote on the dry embargo extension and the beer bill were blocked by the opposing factions. Senator Jones of Washington declared that he would "keep the senate here until December" before he would give his consent to taking up any other legislation until the beer bill was disposed of.
Because of the deadlock over the beer bill, Senator Harrison, Mississippi, presented a motion to withdraw the recess resolution passed last week by the senate.

Woman Speaker "Kidnaped" By Iowa Patriots

By United Press Leased Wire
Mason City, Iowa.—Speaking before two thousand people at a park here last night, Mrs. Ida Crouch Hazlett, New York Socialist campaigner, was yanked from the platform, taken ten miles into the country in an automobile, and unceremoniously "dumped out" in the road. The crowd pelted her with eggs and two men who attempted to aid her were injured.
"I was kidnaped by the American legion," Mrs. Hazlett told the United Press Wednesday.
Members of the kidnapping party were said to have declared that they "preferred to be known as the Ku Klux Klan." Rumors of the formation of an Iowa branch of the southern organization have been persistent in Iowa this summer.
Mrs. Hazlett said the Salvation army was used as a subterfuge to catch her unaware. "They got the army to come marching in front of me, waving their flags and singing. Then the mob attacked me, jerking me from the stand."
A farmer brought Mrs. Hazlett back to Mason City, early today.

LA WMMAKING IS SLOWED UP BY SENATE RULES

Congress Is in Its Usual Jam as Time for Recess Approaches.

FINANCE BILLS DELAYED Senate Leaders Postpone Action Because They Feared Filibusters.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—Congress is in a jam as usual on the eve of an adjournment or recess. Again it is demonstrated that the house with its large membership can dispose of public business rapidly while the senate with its practically unlimited debate is at the mercy of small groups.
Filibusters and threats of the same can tie up legislation at the last minute in the senate and that's why administration leaders abandoned all hope of passing certain major bills which they had hoped to put through before the recess which begins this week and lasts until about October 1. The measure which President Harding and Secretary Mellon requested passed so that negotiations might be begun with the allied powers to arrange for payment of principal and interest on the ten billion dollars they owe the United States has been shelved till after the recess.
Men like Senator La Follette and E. A. Tamm wanted to ask questions and it and since protracted debate was inevitable, it has been set aside.
The bill to enable the war finance corporation to handle the emergency in the railroad situation by paying large sums to the railroads which have been due them as war claims is also sidetracked. The money was to have been spent by the roads in buying equipment and might have given business as a whole a general stimulus this fall. Congress, however, influenced by the agricultural group which wants a reduction in freight rates before helping the railroads, was unable to get the legislation through. Of course the house passed the bill and cleaned up its slate nicely but in the senate the chances of a filibuster against the railroad bill made it seem wiser to postpone consideration of it until after the recess.
The only measure which has been certain of passage is the bill enabling the war finance corporation to lend large sums of money to agricultural export organizations. The farmers have had their way this session though the manufacturing and business interests still wait action on the tariff and revenue bills.
Of course the purpose of the recess is to enable the senate finance committee to hold hearings and write a tax bill. The argument was wisely made that unless the senate recessed

IRELAND'S REPLY LEAVES DOOR OPEN FOR MORE PARLEYS

Erin's Answer Will Be Announced Soon—Six Kidnaped in Irish City.

By United Press Leased Wire
Dublin.—The character of the Daily Eireann's reply to the British government's peace offer will leave the door open for further negotiations.
The United Press correspondent was reliably informed Wednesday that the reply which has been determined upon, while not accepting the terms will not mean immediate hostilities.
Sinn Fein's inner circle has decided upon its answer and submitted it to the Daily Eireann for approval.
Announcement of the Sinn Fein reply is expected Thursday.
Definite choice between war or peace, it was said, had not been made but a reply that would assure continuation of the truce had been decided upon.
Six Men Kidnaped
Belfast.—Six men were mysteriously kidnaped early Wednesday by masked men who woke them at their homes, ordered them to dress and whisked them away in automobiles, by leaving no clues.

DEBS' FRIENDS SURE HE WILL BE FREE SOON

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—A definite statement of policy by President Harding on Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader, and others imprisoned during the war for violation of the espionage act was believed near Wednesday. Friends of Debs today confidentially expect Harding to take decided action following signing of the peace treaty which now appears imminent.
Friends who have been working for Debs' release from the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., ever since the armistice, gained the impression from the statement in Washington that the matter of freedom for all political prisoners depended on the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany. Increasing pressure has been brought to bear for Debs' release due to his reported illness.

30 YEARS IN PRISON FOR ATTACKING POLICE CHIEF

Eau Claire, Wis.—Edward R. Allen, alias Joe James, wanted for breaking jail at Snohomish, Wash., while on life sentence as an habitual criminal, was found guilty of making a murderous assault upon Police Captain George R. Wolf here and given the maximum sentence of 30 years in the state prison. Allen admitted a criminal record in the west.

PEACE TREATY WITH GERMANY READY TO SIGN

Senate Leaders Give Their Approval to Agreement With Berlin.

WILL GO TO U. S. SENATE

Foreign Relations Committee to Get Pact Today—No Trouble Expected.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Peace with Germany was nearly accomplished Wednesday.
Formal signing of a treaty already drawn and in the hands of the state department and the foreign relations committee will come today or tomorrow. E. Loring Drexel, American commissioner in Berlin, will sign for the United States.
The next step will be submission of the treaty to the American senate and German reichstag for ratification.
President Harding and members of the committee expect no difficulty in obtaining approval here, it was said following a conference at the White House Wednesday.
The new treaty is based in general on the Knox peace resolution it was learned Wednesday from senators who have been in touch with the negotiations.
Germany by the treaty, accepts virtually all the provisions of this resolution, according to authoritative information.
As drawn the pact was said to have met the approval of the senators.
The final act before the signature was understood to be the conference of the president and Secretary of States Hughes with the senators Wednesday.
Order Drexel to Sign
Upon being assured that the new pact in general met the approval of the senators, it was understood that order had gone to Drexel to sign in behalf of the United States.
The full text of the treaty will be submitted to the full membership of the senate foreign relations committee at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.
The text of the treaty will be made public by the state department after signature simultaneous with its release in Berlin.
Harding decided not to ask that the senate remain in session to consider the treaty because it was desired to have it come before the American senate and the German reichstag at about the same time. The reichstag will reconvene September 20 and the congressional recess is scheduled to end September 21.
At the conference with the senators, no change in the pact was suggested. The treaty is a comparatively short document it was stated.
Diplomatic relations it was learned, will be reestablished upon the exchange of ratifications as will all other peace time relationships.
All members of the senate foreign relations committee except Borah and Johnson were present. Johnson is out of the city and while Borah is here, no explanation for his absence from the White House conference was forthcoming.

1 KILLED, 25 HURT IN WRECK OF TRAIN

By United Press Leased Wire
Grand Junction, Colo.—Engineer Douglas Armstrong of Grand Junction was instantly killed and 25 passengers injured when a Denver and Rio Grande Western passenger train No. 1, westbound, went through a bridge ten miles east of here at 3:15 a. m. Wednesday.
A hospital train has left here for the scene of the wreck.
According to reports reaching here, the wreck was caused when the train struck a bridge, the supports of which had been swept away by a cloudburst earlier in the evening.
The engine and four cars are in the creek. It was reported here.

A tidal wave was reported to have followed the typhoon at Ningpo.

LARGE GREEN BAY BUILDING ON FIRE

By United Press Leased Wire
Green Bay, Wis.—Fire breaking out early this morning in the Mmahan building, located in the heart of the business district here, did $25,000 damage before the flames were brought under control. The fire originated in the office of Dr. Olmstead. New fire apparatus, just arrived, saved the building according to the fire chief.
The building is seven stories high and Green Bay's only skyscraper.

Hunger In Russia Not As Serious As Painted

Correspondent Finds Children in Bolshevik Capital Are Well Cared For—Streets and Homes Are in Poor Condition.

By John Graudenz
(Copyright 1921 by United Press)
London.—The laughter of little children rings in Moscow streets today just as it does in every city in the world.
The much maligned soviet regime has one lasting thing to its credit—it has taken care of its little ones, at least in the bolshevik capital.
I visited many parts of Moscow, walking the streets unmolested and accompanied sometimes by laughing groups of chattering, bright-eyed children, who were happy and far from starving.
In the poorer quarters of the city, I noticed that the children were not as well nourished as one would have liked to see them. But for a country in the straits in which Russia finds itself, the "stums" of Moscow compare favorably with those of any large city.
The government is taking care of the future generation of Russian men and women, there is no doubt left in my mind about that. Here and there I saw bread lines where food was handed out to the hungry—and in many instances it was mostly milk for the children.
The streets through which I walked were poorly paved and many of them would have been considered unsuitable by a careful chauffeur of a bourgeois automobile, but to the weary Russians they are still serving their purpose as means of communication between different parts of the city.
The houses too, in many parts of the city are dilapidated. Some lean at crazy angles to the sidewalks. All need paint, or mortar where the stones gape. Here again, lack of material has been the Russian reason for the decay of today.
The churches, however, are in good condition. Priests hold their services dressed in the customary gold and silver attire.
Ragged dirty Russians crowd up to the altars in their daily religious ceremonies.
The peasants, looking much the same as the poor (mine) classes of European countries when seen from the train window were working in the fields. Some sort of crops were being raised. Always it was a source of surprise not to find the Russian people falling ravenously upon anything resembling food and devouring it instantly.

COAL PRODUCTION SHOWS INCREASE

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Production of coal is definitely increasing for the first time in two months.
The National Coal association Wednesday reported the output of the last week was 551,000 tons more than the week preceding and the largest since June 11.
This was accepted by the association as indicative of a general betterment in industrial conditions, as practically all industries are dependent upon fuel.
The daily average output for the last week was 1,353,000 tons, compared with the daily average of 1,271,000 for the year to date.
At the same time, production of anthracite has greatly increased, 1,772,000 tons being loaded last week compared with 1,564,000 the week before.

Hughes had a sinking spell Monday and was unconscious nearly all of Tuesday.

Rum Running Fleet Caught Off U. S. Coast

By United Press Leased Wire
Norfolk, Va.—A rum running armada of five vessels was believed bottled up in Chesapeake bay Wednesday. Federal prohibition agents, establishing a cordon of boats across the mouth of the bay, declared capture of the five auxiliary schooners with their $250,000 cargo of liquor and their crews of 50 men, was a matter only of hours.
It was believed the little vessels slipping into creeks and coves had unloaded much of their booze, but officers said they cannot escape capture and prosecution.
A prohibition "army and navy" of considerable size was gathered for the capture of the rum armada. The shores of the bay were patrolled by launches. Land parties made sorties far up the little creeks and coves.
All five vessels slipped by the coast guard cutter Manning which lay off the Virginia capes all Monday night.

Only Two Men Are Saved Out of Crew of Fifty Americans and British.

CRAFT WAS IN POOR SHAPE
Observer Had Declared That Giant Ship Could Not Stand Strains.

By Chas. M. McCann
By United Press Leased Wire
Hull, England.—America's giant dirigible ZR-2 carrying more than fifty American and British flyers, exploded and fell flaming into the river Humber at 5:45 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.
So far as known, only 2 men escaped.
They floated free of the doomed air cruiser in parachutes. All the rest are believed to have been hurled to death.
The ZR-2 had just returned from a trial trip which lasted all day Tuesday and last night during which she cruised over a great part of England and was blown some distance off her course by a gale over the North Sea.
The British airmen put the dirigible, purchased by the United States from England, through all her paces preliminary to turning her over to the American crew for a flight to Lakehurst, N. J.
At 4:30 p. m. Wednesday the huge ship appeared over Howden and signaled that before landing she would make another speed trial. The big crowd waiting in the landing field, around the mammoth hangar at How-

WHAT CAUSED IT?
Lakohurst, N. J.—Breaking of one of the big gas bags in the frame work of the ZR-2 possibly caused the disaster to the great airship in England today, in the opinion of Captain Frank T. Evans, U. S. N., commanding the detachment waiting here to handle the dirigible on her arrival.
"The structure might possibly have been weakened by an accident in the air," he said, "such as the breaking of one of the gas bags."
This is the first accident of its kind, Captain Evans said. So far as known, he declared, none of the German Zeppelins suffered such a catastrophe as overtook the ZR-2.

den, cheered and waved as the airship started northward toward Hull, only a few air minutes away.
She swung through the air lanes above the city and above the mouth of the Humber at steadily increasing speed. Watchers below thought all was going well. The doomed men aboard, in her control cabins and on the narrow runways between the motors, must have had a momentary warning of the disaster, it is believed. Otherwise none would have been able to get clear for the parachute jump.

Great Flash of Flame
Just as the ZR-2 came around a great curve just over the housetops of Hull, near the mouth of the river where it is very wide and deep, there was a flash and a great burst of smoke and flame.
While the horrified watchers gazed up at the tragedy in the sky they heard the rumble of the distant explosion. Then the great steel framework doubled—and the back of the great ship broke.
Slowly at first, then with ever increasing speed, she plunged down. Behind her floated a pall of smoke. She struck the surface of Humber with a terrific upheaval of foaming water.

Immediately dozens of small boats put out from the wharves and from vessels moored nearby, the seamen pulling with all their strength to be the first at the spot where the ZR-2 had sunk and to search for possible survivors.
At first it was feared that not one man had escaped. It was half believed that all had perished, either by the flames during the long fall or by drowning after the ship hurtled into the Humber.

Four Bodies Recovered
At 7:15 two bodies had been recovered. The water at the scene was dotted with small boats searching for more.
Of the boats which started for the scene many were reported to have brought to shore men with terrible injuries. These were taken to infirmaries.
Among those reported saved was Captain Wynn, the British commander of the airship.
Wynn was saved unhurt.
His skilful handling of the giant craft at the moment of the explosion prevented the wreck falling into the center of the town thus averting an even more terrible disaster.
Aerial experts declared the ship was

BOOSTERS LEAVE FOR SEYMOUR FAIR AT NOON THURSDAY

At Least Fifty Automobiles Will Be in Appleton Merchants' Delegation.

Not less than 50 automobiles will be in the caravan which leaves Appleton Chamber of Commerce at 12:30 Thursday noon to attend Appleton day at the Seymour fair which opened Tuesday. Committees are at work Wednesday inducing a large number of persons to lay aside their business for a day to show Seymour people that Appleton is backing their big agricultural enterprise.

All persons who leave from the chamber of commerce headquarters will be given pasteboard hatbands.

The Appleton delegation to the Seymour Fair will leave the chamber of commerce headquarters at 12:30 Thursday noon. Thursday is Appleton day at the fair. Efforts are being made to have several hundred Appleton men and women represent the city on that day.

Bearing this legend: "You'll Like Appleton." Banners bearing the same wording also will be attached to the automobiles.

The chamber of commerce has arranged through the fair officials for parking space and grandstand tickets for those who wish to make use of these facilities. Seymour men are eager to do all in their power to add to the comfort and convenience of their Appleton guests.

Entries on Tuesday indicated that the exhibits of livestock will be the largest in the history of the fair. Dozens of pure bred cattle are on display the hog section is well filled and numerous prize winning pens of poultry are housed in the chicken exposition building.

A splendid program of attractions and races is provided. Seymour officials have spent more money on this fair than ever before and are confident that it will be far better than their best previous attempt.

Following are the names of more Appleton persons who have registered their intention of attending the fair with the chamber of commerce:

Thirty or more former service men of the Twin Cities went to Fond du Lac Wednesday to have their claims against the U. S. Government based on service in the World War adjusted by the "clean up squad."

The funeral of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Blasieki, Polaski-st., Menasha, was held at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning from the St. John church in Menasha.

Rev. A. J. Sommers of Neenah left Tuesday for Milwaukee to attend the conference of the Wisconsin English Lutheran Bible School association of the United English Lutheran church. The conference is to last through Wednesday.

Truck Slides Into City Dumping Ground
A motor truck belonging to E. A. Stanton and driven by Ralph Schnitz went into the big ravine at the dumping grounds at 9:30 Wednesday morning. The accident was due to the loose earth giving way, the truck taking a drop of 15 feet. After backing up to the edge of the ravine to unload the driver alighted and immediately the truck started backward slowly. He reset the brake and had barely reached the seat when the earth below the wheels started sliding. The driver escaped with a few slight bruises and the damage to the truck was confined to the top and windshield.

ALFRED ARCHIBALD

INCOME ASSESSORS MEET IN APPLETON
Assessors of incomes of the North-eastern Wisconsin district met Wednesday at the office of John A. Lonsdorf, Outagamie-co. assessor of incomes and supervisor of assessors, to discuss various features of the administration of income tax laws and other matters connected with their duties.

The assessors used the opportunity to have a heart to heart talk on their experiences in administering the tax laws. They exchanged helpful ideas and made suggestions as to how various difficulties could be met and overcome.

Assessors of incomes who attended the meeting were E. P. Worthing of Fond du Lac, Thomas Reddin of Manitowish, Henry Dvornak of Casco, Ira Wensink of Sheboygan, A. H. Bussewitz of Juneau, Cleve Tomlinson, representing Columbia and Marquette counties, William Haase of Marinette and John Colignon of Green Bay.

DEATHS
MARGUERITE HARRIMAN
Marguerite Harriman, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Harriman, 903 Perry-st., died Wednesday morning at her home after an illness of two days. She had recently returned from California where she had been attending the University of California. She is survived by her parents, two sisters and two brothers. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

ALFRED ARCHIBALD
Alfred Archibald, 33, died at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at St. Elizabeth hospital following an operation. He is survived by his widow, one son, Eugene, two years, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Archibald of Oakland, Cal., three sisters, Mrs. Harry Diamond of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. O. Malley and Miss Blanche Archibald of California.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Friday morning from St. Mary church. Interment will be in Riverside cemetery.

ALL MEMBERS OF CALF CLUB TO BE TAKEN TO BIG FAIR

Thirty-two Boys and Girls Will Be Guests of Appleton Businessmen.

Each of the thirty-two Outagamie county boys and girls who had a pure bred calf entered in the First National Bank Calf Club roundup at the Oneda-st. parking place last Saturday, will have an opportunity to attend the Wisconsin state fair next week free of expense.

The decision of the management to expand the number who could attend the fair to include not only the 20 winners but all those who exhibited a calif. was made after a conference in which it was pointed out that all of the exhibitors were vitally interested in the calf club and their enthusiasm warranted a reward.

Consequently the following boys and girls will have an opportunity to see the state fair: Norbert Gengler, Clarence Jenkel, Richard Janssen, Carlton Zuelzke, Leonard Reimer, Glen Anderson, Arthur Schultz, George Palmer, Earl Sykes, Wade Letts, Armand W. Dobberstein, Helen Jenkel, Dorothy E. Laird, Wilbert Lillge, Arnold Missing, Eugene Nelson, Raymond Retzlaff, Henry D. Schaefer, James E. Schaefer, John R. Schaefer, Irma Schaefer, Clarence Schroeder, Martin Stecher, Adeline Tecklin, Edwin Tecklin, Hilda Tecklin, Barney VanHamel, Marvin Wasserbach, Harvey Wundrow, Gerhard Dobberstein, Dale Kirklin and Wesley Lohrenz.

Make Trip by Truck
To eliminate parental worry and anxiety as much as possible, the children will be taken to the fair by truck. George Schaefer of the town of Greenville has consented to take the party in his truck, inasmuch as he has three sons who are members of the club. Comfortable seats will be provided so that the long ride to Milwaukee will be as free from fatigue as possible.

The party will leave the First National Bank corner about 8:30 next Tuesday morning and will arrive at the fair grounds about 5 o'clock. The children will be taken directly to the state camp of the Wisconsin Boys' and Girls' Agricultural Clubs and will sleep and eat at the camp during their stay at the fair. Competent managers are in charge of the camp and the children will have proper care and supervision. The party will return Thursday Sept. 1, leaving the camp at 11 o'clock in the forenoon and arriving here between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening.

It is believed that making the trip by truck will eliminate many of the inconveniences the party might encounter if the journey were made by rail. This way no change from train to street car will be necessary and the children can be taken directly to camp in a body.

PRIEST DUMPED IN LAKE AT ONAWAY SCOUT CAMP

Word from Camp Onaway at Wau-paca, where the Appleton Boy Scouts are having their annual outing, is to the effect that Father Adam Grill took an involuntary bath in the lake but the details of the accident are lacking. It was learned, however, that his life was not endangered and that he was none the worse for his experience. Chris Mullen, who has been with the Scouts ever since they went into camp, left Tuesday for Black Creek to join his family at the Thomas Mullen farm.

NO WOMAN IS STRONGER THAN HER NERVES

No electric power station is stronger than the amount of electricity stored therein. Your brain and nervous system consists of countless millions of cells. In these cells is stored a mighty mysterious energy called "nerve force" on which all thought, force, energy and even life itself must depend.

If you overtax your nerves by worry, overwork, too much excitement, grief or constant nervous strain, and when the nerve force or nerve fluid runs out, it is made up, you are bound in time to become a nervous wreck with all its terrible tortures and sufferings.

In such cases, avoid more stimulating medicines and narcotic drugs. What you need is something to put more nerve force into your weak, debilitated nerve cells. This is most effectively accomplished by the free use of Nuxated Iron, as it not only contains organic iron to enrich your blood, but it also contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force, so that it may be said to be both a blood and a nerve food. It often increases the strength, vigor and endurance of weak, tired, nervous, worn-out women in two weeks' time. Satisfactory results are guaranteed to every purchaser or the manufacturers will refund your money. Nuxated Iron for the blood and nerves is sold by all druggists.

College Days Mean Bigger Business For Sweet Shops

Confectionery Business Has Been Good in Spite of Unemployment.

Appleton merchants are looking forward with interest to the opening of Lawrence college which will mean several hundred additional prospective customers. Dealers in candy are especially glad to welcome the college students for they know that they have not only one highly developed sweet tooth, but the majority of them have whole sets of them. Through many years of habit they have become accustomed to top off their "dates" with their best gifts with a visit to the sweet shops. They find it rather convenient to run into some shop for a little lunch between classes especially if they have missed "breakfast."

Fred Schintz of the Schintz Brothers Drug Co. said that the opening of college brought an increased demand for candies, ice cream, toilet articles and stationery of all kinds. He said that they had been busy all the time and they didn't seem to be affected by the condition of unemployment. "We have been so busy this season that we haven't noticed any falling off due to unemployment," said Paul Koletzke of the Volk Drug Co. Business seems to be as good as ever. He said it was the same with the college trade, although the volume of trade might be greater when the college is open, business itself is good the year around.

The opening of college will have lit tle affect upon the sale of theatre tickets according to Theodore Bellong of the Bellong Drug Co. "If we depended upon the college students to fill the theatres, the attendance would be very slim," said Mr. Bellong. "The freshmen are not allowed to attend." The upper classes have a restricted number of theatre "skips." A great many of them "rush" the pit when they do attend.

"We sold about one third less ice cream this summer than a year ago," said T. J. Vermeulen of the Vermeulen Tea shop. There has been an increased demand for it since it has become cooler. During the very hot test weather it is said that ice cream was not as popular as in the days of a lower mercury. Business in this line began to pick up noticeably as soon as the cottagers began to return to their homes in this city.

Mr. Vermeulen has observed that ice cream is a very popular dish after the first movie show but after the second show almost everyone orders a hot lunch. This is due he thinks to the fact that people are not hungry early in the evening while by 10:30 or later they begin to feel a demand for nourishment.

College students are good customers, according to Mr. Vermeulen. They as a class exhibit a great fondness for sweets. On the other hand tourists prefer hot lunches to any form of frozen dish. Mr. Dempos of the Princess shop said that they sell great quantities of candies to college students. Three men are kept busy during the winter months making the candies.

BIG EXHIBITS OF PURE BRED CATTLE AT HORTONVILLE

Committees Arranging for Exhibits at Hortonville Fair Next Week.

Interest in the breeding of pure bred cattle in Outagamie co., will be given a wholesome stimulus next week when farmers will exhibit the best purebred stock of the county at the Outagamie County Fair at Hortonville from Aug. 31 to Sept. 2.

A committee on exhibits consisting of W. H. Steffenson, Paul Nyhus, farm agent for the First National bank and Fred Missing has been inspecting various herds in the county for the purpose of ascertaining just what animals would be representatives of the county's purebred cattle and it is likely the owners of these animals will enter them at the fair.

Most farmers invited the recommendations of the committee for they believed in this way they would be saved the expense of showing animals that would have no chance of winning prizes. Between 25 and 30 purebred Holsteins will be shown by 20 breeders if present plans are carried out. Those who are planning to exhibit Holsteins are W. H. Steffenson, N. J. Lossely, Fred Missing,

Michael McCarthy, Fred Winkler, Frank Greal, Charles Haase, Nick Paltzer, W. H. Weickert, F. A. Zeigler, B. O. Mueller, E. G. Carpenter, R. F. Winkler and Sons, John Dobberstein, Neuman Brothers, Nick Salm, and George T. Saasman.

The Holstein association has arranged to provide for the care of Holstein exhibits at the fair so that owners may be relieved of this responsibility. Animals will be entered for exhibit on Wednesday and the judging will take place on Thursday.

Eight breeders of purebred Guernseys plan to have between 20 and 25 animals at the fair. Those who plan to make entries are Jameson Brothers, Victor Leppa, William Breitrick, Orin Breitrick, Wilbur Lohrenz, Schmitt Brothers, Fred Breitrick and Nasche Brothers.

WANT BADGER COWS ON OKLAHOMA FARMS

Meek Wisconsin cows, noted the nation over for their liberal flow of milk and maximum production of cream, may soon be grazing among southern cottonfields if plans now under way are carried out. Incidentally, money will flow into the pockets of many Wisconsin farmers.

Oklahoma farmers need good cows. Wisconsin dairymen have them. So the Oklahoma farmers are going to buy there. Eugene Arnett of Oklahoma City was in Madison Tuesday to confer with Prof. A. W. Hopkins of the state college of agriculture in regard to transferring dairy cows from this state to Oklahoma. He told

Prof. Hopkins that many Oklahoma farmers are about to turn from cotton raising to dairy farming and consequently they will be in the market for pure bred dairy cattle, two years old and over.

The report is that the banks of Oklahoma are prepared to finance the program and the farmers of that state will pay from 50 to 200 per cent over livestock market quotations for the kind of animals they want.

MAYOR HAWES VISITS BIG REGISTER PLANT IN DAYTON

Mayor J. A. Hawes returned Monday from Dayton, O., where he was the guest for a week of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Smith. He said the plant of the National Register Co. which employs 7,000 hands was operating with 5,500 and the manager informed him that the number of orders received during the month of July was the largest in the history of the company. Mr. Hawes was taken through the plant and also through the printing plant near the main building which was erected by the government during the war and which the register people recently acquired. The number of visits taken through the plant is limited to 50,000 a year. Mayor Hawes was greatly interested in the welfare work of the company and secured much valuable information.

INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION OF STATES
Intimations by Irish republican leaders
suggest that a new proposal will be submitted to England that Ireland shall be an autonomous commonwealth, forming part of the British empire of popular governments, and reserve to England the military stipulations advanced by Premier Lloyd George. The arrangement would, it is believed, give England the safeguarding power which it wishes to retain and Ireland the home rule which it desires, while questions between England and Ireland would be subject to decision
by the imperial dominions which comprise the British international federation.
All the governments which are allied in the British empire are practically commonwealths, and the so-called empire is,
in reality, an international federation of dominions. The federation is just as republican in principle and in fact as the American system, and it is almost anomalous to designate the British international alliance as an empire.

Judging by assertions attributed to Premier Jan Christian Smuts, of South Africa,
through whose influence truce was effected in Ireland and conferences for an adjustment of differences were begun, the foregoing idea seems to coincide, in a general way, perhaps with modifications, with utterances of Lloyd George and De Valera.
This impression is conveyed by the following editorial in the Dublin Freeman's Journal: "If Gen. Smuts has been correctly interpreted as to Mr. Lloyd George's promises and wishes, a plain statement to this effect would, in our opinion, go a long way to smooth the path of peace."
Further negotiations between De Valera and Lloyd George seem to be probable, and there appear to be good, strong reasons for the hope that an understanding will be reached and that it will be submitted to the vote of the Irish people.
England and Ireland are so near together
that they must be friends and allies, and there should, as there likely will, be an amicable relationship which will satisfy both of them. While the smoke is rising from the battle of words, it is advisable to say or do nothing which might excite enmity or cause rancor.

De Valera and Lloyd George have not yet reached a complete understanding,
but they have not arrived at the parting of ways. Deadlock does not necessarily mean failure, and the public should not be quick to give way to criticism of either party to the controversy, or to relinquish hope.

Somewhat, or another, the Irish question
must be settled. It cannot be permitted to remain undetermined, as it is the gravest of all political issues and would disturb international calm continuously.
The present status looks gloomy. De Valera, Craig and Lloyd George are apparently firm in the attitudes, but it seems that De Valera and Lloyd George have made talkable concessions to each other.
The fact that relations have not been closed, together with modifying statements by De Valera and Lloyd George,
leaves the way open for further negotiations. And no effort should be left undone to settle the question.

FINDING YOUR WAY IN PUZZLING WASHINGTON
By this time "the wish of the president" notice of Postmaster General Hays informing the public of the location of an information bureau in the Washington postoffice, has been posted in all, or nearly all, the postoffices of the United States.
It is a notice worth reading, and by those who intend to visit the nation's capital, worth remembering.
The notice states that the president's wish is that "visitors to the seat of government shall have every opportunity to get full information concerning all governmental departments" and "it is especially his desire that all those who come to Washington to transact business with any department or bureau of the government may quickly be advised as to the exact location and means of reaching the particular department or bureau." And then the public is notified that the Bureau of information is in the postoffice department building, "located on Pennsylvania avenue at Twelfth-st."

The best of intentions, and intentions resulting probably from unforgettable experience, must have prompted this action.
Finding the way in Washington is a lesson in practical, applied geometry. An unsophisticated person, starting for an objective in the direction of the capital, for instance, is apt to terminate his expedition in the vicinity of the Lincoln monument, or for that matter, at the starting point.

Mr. Hays' notice says the postoffice department building is on Pennsylvania at Twelfth street. Nothing is easier to find than Pennsylvania avenue, but scarcely anything is so difficult as keeping on Pennsylvania. If the postmaster general cannot send guides to the hotels to escort citizens to Twelfth and Pennsylvania, it would be a good idea to attach a postscript
to the notice explaining that a stranger
can be sure that he has not deviated from this main thoroughfare by walking sideways and riving one eye on the Treasury building and fastening the other eye on the capitol.

It is a happy thought to advise visitors
"as to the exact location and means of reaching a particular department." The location is one thing, while locating it is another. A map or two, a compass or three or four engineering instruments are very helpful to the stranger in Washington. After getting the advice and the directions, it would not be injudicious to tell them to a taxi-cab driver, and hop into his car. The bureau of information should really be most serviceable to visitors in the city of magnificent distances.
No doubt, it will be patronized by thousands of citizens day after day, and they will appreciate the accommodation and the patriotic motive which inspired it.

BERATING OUR DISTINGUISHED MEN

Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee made a vicious attack on former President Wilson in the debate on the new revenue bill. The speech was political and vituperative. He declared that he had voted for government control of the railroads in order to "put Wilson in a hole, and we did," but he subsequently said, under cross-fire, that this assertion was intended as a joke. The friction and jealousies, as well as the failures and the rancor, of the war-time and the period after the war, when everything was abnormal and unsettled and many persons were irritated, reckless and vindictive, made a habit of denunciation. And of late a few most scathing articles concerning prominent public officials, including President Harding, have been published and acclaimed.

Men in public life are amenable to fair
criticism. They are public servants. Yet their prominence or their offices should not subject them to mean, contemptible, personal assaults; to calumny, slander, insult,
hate and philippics, making them objects of national opprobrium. They are entitled to justice and consideration in criticism. When Mr. Fordney explained that he had meant a statement which sounded like a confession of disloyalty as a joke, he must have realized that he had made a grave mistake. His exhortation of Mr. Wilson was so brutal that it emphasized by sharp, glaring contrast the serious fault of malicious iconoclasm to the people, and for this reason it may act as a restraint on maledictory speaking and writing.

Ordinary fairness, if not a certain respect, is due to men in public office, and especially to former occupants of the White house and most particularly to the president. Government itself exists on truth and dignity. If there must be criticism, let it be reasonable and patriotic,
and not deliberately spiteful and defamatory. Let us return to normalcy in our treatment of prominent men.

BRING GOOD AND BAD LUCK.

It is good luck to eat the first mayflower you see in the spring. If it is a crocus, let it alone, in Australia they say it draws away one's strength. Nor must you wish any one to die, for in Egypt the ancient is one of the lucky flowers of spring, wrap
the first one in red cloth and, if not disturbed, it will cure disease. On the French coast it is useless to try to catch fish unless the waters are first strewn with flowers by the fishermen's wives and daughters
in Devonshire (England) they regard it as unlucky to plant a bed of lilies in the course of twelve months. The Turk seeks misfortune in so light a thing as the fall of a rose petal and will sometimes guard against such droppings by carefully picking the flowers before they fall apart. In Samoa the head of a corpse is wreathed in flowers to aid the soul to gain admission into paradise.

FALLING HAIR.
Everybody's hair seems to be falling fast. It is a sorry sight to see a fine, healthy, upright young man
going bald before he has cut all his wisdom teeth—
and nowadays, according to scientific tabulation, 49 per cent of adults at the age of 25 are without from one to all four wisdom teeth. It is sad indeed to see a young woman losing her crown of glory.
The strength of an organ is determined by its use, within reasonable limitations. Unused organs are the first to degenerate in the natural process of evolution. Refinements of diet in civilized countries account for the crumbling of our molar machinery.
Possibly similar refinements are to blame for the alarming spread of alopecia—and it is alarming
when you first discover it creeping insidiously over the noble expanse of your own resplendent calvarium.

Toxemia—some poison or other circulating in the blood—is a well known cause of falling hair. The toxemia of typhoid fever, for instance, is a notorious factor; and it is equally notorious that, after convalescence is established, the hair grows again as heavy or heavier than before. Which makes a pretty clear case against toxemia. There are countless other forms of acute or chronic toxemia; such, for instance, as auto-intoxication from the putrefactive decomposition of excessive food residues in the intestine—the usual and harmful consequence of eating too much and exercising too little. Oxygen is the element that destroys or burns up retained poisons
in the blood. People confined indoors too much do not oxygenate the blood thoroughly, people who forget to maintain good posture and expand the chest a few times every hour, are victims of suboxidation, insufficient oxygenation, and must therefore carry a heavier load of toxins or poisons than those who breathe well.

Men go bald earlier and often by far than women,
thank heaven. Indeed, a woman very rarely loses her crown of glory, though it often becomes alarmingly thin and lusterless, owing to her ignorance or neglect of the scalp. The only logical reason we can see for the greater prevalence of drought of the dome among men is the unhygienic headgear of the ugly sex. The hatband, gripping
the scalp like a tourniquet, impairs the blood supply of the bald roots; and the rest of the decoration just excludes the best of all hair tonics, sunlight, and the most effective of all germicides, sunlight. Then the ubiquitous, pestiferous little microbes get busy,
and it is good-bye fond thatch we now must leave these.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

No Bacilli in Books.
Question—A friend who has been in a tuberculosis sanatorium presented me with several books which had been read by different patients in the sanitarium. I placed them in the sunshine outdoors, and turned the pages to sun them thoroughly over several days. But I am afraid of them. I have been severely criticised for having even accepted them.
Must I burn the books? (Mrs. J. G. M.) Answer—If the books were not visibly soiled when you received them there is no reason whatever for destroying them. Books seldom carry infection.

What to Eat for Constipation.

Question—Please tell me what to eat for the relief of chronic constipation, and what not to eat. (M.
V. P.)
Answer—Whole wheat dishes of all kinds. Fresh fruit to begin breakfast each morning, plenty of water with meals or between meals as you prefer,
raw cabbage (salads), turnips, beets, cucumbers, celery, greens, potatoes (with skins), lots of butter and other fats, berries with seeds, brown rice, corn dishes of all kinds, oatmeal, wheat bran. What not to eat is of little importance.

Twenty-Five Years Ago
Wednesday, Aug. 26, 1895.
R. M. Lunt was in Milwaukee on business.
The Rev. and Mrs. John Faville returned from Lake Mills.
Miss Amy Redfield of the telephone exchange left for Winona, Minn., for a two weeks' vacation. Her place was being filled by Miss Rose Appleton.
Vinnie, an Appleton racing mare, won the 224
class race at Stevens Point the day previous.
A 3-horse team engaged in plowing on the Fred Miller farm in the town of Grand Chute was killed
by lightning and the driver was rendered unconscious.
The trustee of St. Joseph society secured by annuity purchase arranged with Albert Verbooven the property lying west of the church, between the church and Walnut-st. The property had a frontage of 70 feet on Lawrence-st., and 100 feet on Walnut-
st. The price agreed upon was $4,000.
Jacob Kober removed his stock of drygoods and clothing from his store in the opera house block to the building vacated by Julius Peerenboom and Sons.
Frank Weiland, 14, fell from a buggy and fractured
his arm.

The season's shipments of Canadian pulpwood
from Long Tail Point docks of the Pulpwood Supply Co. by rail to Fox river valley mills were to close the day following when the pulpwood trains were to be taken off and the docks closed for the season. The season shipment consisted of three rafts or 18,000 cords.
The shut-off of water power along Fox river was causing the Appleton Edison Electric Co.'s lighting plant and street car system a great deal of trouble
due to lack of steam power.
Miss Louise Chilson entertained a group of friends
at a party track ride which was chaperoned by Miss Carl Wells.

LIKE SWORD OF DAMOCLES.

It may have chanced that some of us have unwittingly sat under a sword of Damocles and "through good luck rather than good management" have escaped its fall. Damocles himself was happily ignorant of his danger for a brief time.
The story, with its perfectly obvious moral, is that in the reign of Dionysius the Elder as the ruler of Syracuse in Greece, years before the Christian era, Damocles, a member of the court, wishing to establish himself securely with the monarch, flattered him unceasingly. Being a good deal of a man and believing that "flattery, like cologne water, is to be smelled of, not swallowed," Dionysius decided to teach the courtier a lesson.

He invited him to a wonderful banquet, which Damocles enjoyed greatly until he perceived above
his head a sword which was held by one single hair.
How soon he was able to leave his perilous station is unrecorded, but his feelings during the rest of the least may be imagined and need not be described.

PREACHERS' SONS.

I know the age-old fable concerning preachers'
sons and deacons' daughters, but have no fresh concern respecting them. (The writer is one of them.)
It is true that much, and much too much is expected of them. They are constantly in the eye of the members of the congregation, and little allowance is made for their shortcomings. Trivial offenses are magnified and they are rarely treated with real justice. Yet in a long life I have known many preachers' sons, and there have been very few "black sheep" among them. In nine cases out of ten they have proved to be high-minded, honorable and respected citizens.—Melville E. Stone in Collier's Weekly.

Housing Our Guests
By Frederic J. Haskin
Washington, D. C.—The vanguard of the delegates to the word disarmament conference to be held in Washington in November will begin to pour into the city
at least six weeks
in advance of the opening of this momentous congress and the State Department is beginning to find itself somewhat in the position of a hostess
trying to give a large party in a small house. The number of visitors will increase steadily until the opening day of the conference, November 11, and every one coming here will remain all winter if the official guesses as to the length of the parleys prove good ones.
Washington, unlike other great capitals of the world, is not the metropolis as well as the political center of the country. London, Paris, Berlin, Rome, Tokyo, and every other capital
city of importance in the world, is also the largest city of its nation. Paris had no great difficulty in assimilating
the huge delegations which poured into it at the time of the Peace Conference. The case of Washington is different.

There is discussion now of a world financial conference in Washington at the same time that the disarmament
parleys are under way. The two questions are so woven together that limitation of armaments cannot well be considered apart from international finances and trade. As a matter of fact, it is doubtful if the disarmament
congress would have a fair chance of success, or would have been held, unless the world's great nations were in debt, their people supporting an almost crushing burden of taxation which the limiting of army and navy expenditures will lighten materially.

These two great meetings will bring to Washington approximately 20,000 people who ordinarily would not be here. Washington again will be pushed hard for places to house all of the people who must make this city their home for an indefinite period, as it was during the war and for many months thereafter.

The State Department is at work
now surveying the situation from all angles. The embassies of the military and naval powers have been asked to find out from their governments exactly how many will be included in their delegations, and the indications are that the smallest delegation from any of the more important nations will number at least a hundred. Great Britain is understood to have asked that two hotels
be provided to take care of its delegates. Japan is expected to notify the State Department that its delegates and their experts, assistants,
clerks, stenographers, and the like,
will number between 200 and 300. In addition to the representatives of England, France, Italy, and Japan, almost every other country in the world whether a military or naval power or not, is expected to have a delegation of official observers at the conference.

Hordes of News Men
In addition to the huge official delegations, there will be hundreds of newspaper correspondents from all over the world who will cover the pa-
rleys until the sessions end, and unofficially the State Department will take a hand to see that these men are comfortably housed. While the State Department has nothing to do with American visitors coming to Washington, it is certain that thousands will visit the already crowded city
each week throughout the winter.
To cope with the situation, committees are being organized now in the State Department, each charged with a specific part of the work of taking care of the army of official visitors.

Another problem on which work
has started is finding sufficient office space for the delegations. A survey of the building situation is under way,
and inquiries have been started to see what facilities of this kind each delegate desires. This problem is not an easy one to solve, as Washington is not a great business city, having relatively few office buildings. Moreover, what space is available here is nearly all occupied, and it is likely to be as difficult a task to get office room as to provide living quarters.

The official delegates and their suites will be met by representatives of the State Department at the airports at which they enter the country and brought to Washington as guests of the Government, probably by special trains. After being conducted to the quarters arranged for them by the joint efforts of their embassies and the State Department they will for the remainder of their stay in Washington be their own hosts as far as paying expenses is concerned.

Assembly Hall Problem
Another angle of the situation
which is causing a great deal of trouble is the obtaining of a proper hall
in which the public sessions may be held. Washington is not provided with any large hall sufficiently modern to handle open sessions of a conference
as dignified and important as the disarmament discussions. The suggestion that a theatre be used was brought forward, but was rejected promptly because the delegates might appear to be performers and might be made a little ridiculous by such a proceeding.

Although the principal conferences
will be open, the everyday, unofficial citizen will not have a chance of hearing a word of the discussions on account of this lack of a large modern hall with good acoustic properties.
Several meeting places are under consideration with the chances favoring the selection of the hall room in the Pan American Union. This room is about the same size as the Hall of Mirrors, where the open sessions of the Versailles peace conferences were held. The State Department estimates that when the delegates are seated
and the newspaper correspondents
taken care of, there will remain room
for only fifty outsiders, and without doubt these seats will be pre-empted
at each session by resident members of the diplomatic corps.

Unfortunately, building operations
in Washington have not been going forward speedily for several years,
despite the difficulty in obtaining quarters here during the war for the thousands of war workers who poured into the city and had to be housed.
In old apartment houses it is impossible to dislodge the regular tenants to make room for the foreign guests, and there are only two new ones of any size nearing completion
now. Landlords do not care to turn these over for such purposes if they can avoid it, as the wear and tear on the property is a large item. Then again, there is the trouble of completely furnishing a whole apartment house for temporary tenants, as the disarmament conferences may not last more than six months at the most.

There has been some suggestion of having some of the delegates live in Baltimore, but this has been discarded because of worry and annoyance of having to commute daily to Washington, forty miles away. So Washington, small as it is in comparison with other capitals and ill-equipped to handle such a large gathering, has got to spread itself out in some way and assimilate 20,000 people who will stay here until spring.

THE QUESTION BOX

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medicinal, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)
Q. How much money was spent on the Air Service during the war?
R. F. W.
A. The sum usually quoted for this expenditure has been $1,500,000,000. Figures recently compiled show that the entire cost of the Air Service during the war, including the building of airplanes, the accumulation of material, and the maintenance of the Service abroad, amounted to $773,000,000. This did not include the pay of the officers and enlisted men.
Q. Please state the values of United States postage stamps printed with Washington's head and those bearing Franklin's? H. H.
A. The Post Office Department says that 1-cent to 7-cent stamps are printed with the picture of Washington, and 8-cent to 5 dollar stamps inclusive are printed with the picture of Franklin.
Q. What kind of wood are cigar boxes made of? E. A. D.
A. Cigar boxes are made of bass-wood, red cedar, red gum, tupelo gum, white elm (soft), and yellow poplar.
Q. What causes lightning and long continual thunder? D. E. R.
A. The Bureau of Standards says the difference in potential between the clouds charged with electricity and the earth causes a spark to pass between the two in the so-called "electrical machine." The reverberation of thunder is caused by the sudden expansion of the air in the vicinity of a lightning discharge. Reflection of the sound from clouds and other objects causes the long drawn out roll sometimes heard when the discharge takes place several miles away.
Q. Are there any wild Indians left? C. E. B.
A. There are not today in North America any wild tribes of Indians. In parts of South America, notably the forest regions of the Amazon there are tribes of Indians which have not yet reached any degree of civilization.
Q. How can rust be removed from cut steel beads? M. E.
A. Rust can be removed from cut steel beads by soaking them in kerosene and then washing in warm water and soap.
Q. What was the greatest output of wheat in the United States? F. B. A.
A. To date the greatest output of wheat was in 1915. There were 60,469,000 acres harvested, making 17 bushels the average yield per acre.
Q. Please settle a heated argument by quoting correctly and telling where one may find the saying that the "children's teeth are on edge?"
A. Jeremiah, 31st chapter and 29th verse. Revised Edition of the Bible reads: "In those days they shall say no more, the fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge."
Q. To deer shed the entire horns each year or merely shed the velvet that comes during the period of their growth? J. M. S.
A. The Bureau of Biological Survey says that deer shed their entire horns annually.
Q. Is Lloyd Osbourne a relative of Robert Louis Stevenson? G. D.
A. Lloyd Osbourne, is no relation

mother, Mrs. Fanny Vande Grift married Mr. Stevenson, thereby making Mr. Stevenson Mr. Osbourne's stepfather.
Q. What locality has the warmest and driest climate at an altitude of 2,000 to 3,500 feet? E. A. K.
A. The Weather Bureau says that these conditions will be found in the far south-western portions of the country, notably from southern New Mexico westward to southern California.
Q. In which one of Shakespeare's plays does the character Cobweb appear? J. F. S.
A. Cobweb is one of four fairies that appear in Shakespeare's Midsummer Night's Dream—first in act
3, scene 1, and later in act 4, scene 1.
Q. Why is the water of Niagara falls green? N. B.
A. In accounting for the color of the water of the Niagara, it is necessary to consider the fact that the waters of this river come directly from the lake in which they have left all sediment they may have held in suspension, and therefore are clear. Authorities are of the opinion that the greenish color of the water is due to the amount of carbonic acid gas that it contains.

SPECIAL NOTICE
A great scarcity of teachers calls for more young people to train for the work.
No better school can be found for preparing for the profession of teaching than the Outagamie County Training School at Kaukauna.
Salaries are better than ever and working conditions have improved greatly in the last few years.
High school graduates are wanted by all school boards. It takes just one year for a high school graduate to complete the training school course and become a regular teacher. Full credit is given at any normal school for work done at a training school.
One year at the Outagamie County Training School and one year at any normal school gives you a life certificate.
Young people who are not high school graduates may also attend the Outagamie County Training School but it takes longer to complete the course.
Fall term begins August 29, 1921. Enroll early.

Confessions of a Bride

(Copyright 1920)

A Ride With the Loot

We girls did not ask why we were to go up to the big house for the balance of the night. We were relieved to go away from my bungalow. We did not need to be told that the gang of conspirators who trailed the royal loot might return with reinforcements as soon as they discovered what the little casket held.

Doubtless one or two of the robbers had followed the treasure from Germany, had been watching it, losing it, and finding it repeatedly and they could be counted upon to do desperate deeds to regain it.

We girls hoped that we could end the adventure for that night by going over to the Lorimer mansion. It was as strong as a fortress.

"I've sent two of my men off the grounds for help," said Morrison. "There isn't a wire working on your place, Lorimer. Every one clipped. Now, young ladies, will you please collect those diamonds? Wouldn't advise you to leave 'em here unless I commanded an army!"

We girls dug up sapphires from the flour barrel, pearls from the sugar box, diamonds from the oatmeal, emeralds from the rice. I counted the pieces. When the tally was correct, we crammed the glittering baubles into Bob's English bag, a particularly smart piece of luggage of which I was proud.

The early morning was cold, dark and mysterious. Detectives guarded our cars, our own men were armed, nevertheless I felt that hateful eyes glared at us from thickets. A water drop glistening a branch suggested the sheen on a gun barrel. It was absurd to imagine that danger menaced us but I knew that I would continue to be absurd until we had parted forever with the fallen despot's spoils.

Daddy's monolog didn't help to relieve the events of that ride through the unlighted park. He reviewed the events of the early evening for Morrison's information:

"I could trust my chauffeur, Etienne to stick till doomsday. I can't blame him—might as well blame myself for falling for the taxi stunt. We'd have been held up and done for, if Bob hadn't surmised the game. But that arsenal is more important!"

Daddy's reminiscences, intended to enlighten the detective, made me shake. I knew that Chrys and Katherine were in the same state of shivers.

Poor Chrys had looked white and weak before we left my bungalow. The paralysis of her vocal cords was not the sole result of her fright.

Jordan Spence had been watching her, too. He sat by her in the car. I was so anxious about Chrys that I never noticed who had taken care of Bob's bag with its load of jewelry. What we feared happened very suddenly.

Before we reached the porte cochere of the Lorimer house, several guards dropped from the cars. Something had stirred in the bushes. They investigated.

Shouts—and then shots! Chrys fainted dead away. She slumped as if she had been struck, in heart or brain, by one of the flying bullets!

Adventures of the Twins

Oliver Roberts Barton

WHAT CHICK SAW

"Just come with us," said Nancy to Chick Chickaree, "and you'll soon find out who is stealing your maple syrup sap."

Chick went willingly, for he hadn't quite made up his mind about his cousin, Scramble Squirrel, not being the thief. He didn't like Scramble and Scramble didn't like him, and there you are!

Down scrambled the three of them, not bothering to wait for the elevator that Munchie Mouse, the janitor, ran from the basement of Maple-Tree Flats to the very top floor. They were down in two winks, and in two more they were all hidden safely behind a hazel bush.

"Now watch!" said Nick. "Keep your eye on the door below yours. Chick, and keep as quiet as you can."

So Chick fastened his little black eyes where Nick said, but if the little boy hadn't said to keep quiet, Chick would certainly have whispered,

"He can't be a very big person for his door isn't bigger round scarcely than Farmer Smith's thumb. And he must be a very round person for his doorway is as round as the moon!"

But he didn't say it—he just thought it. And he kept on looking and looking.

Suddenly Chick saw a head stick it self cautiously out and look around, about the reddest head he had ever seen—much redder than he was himself, and his other name was "Red" Squirrel. "H'm," he sniffed. "I know whose head that is. It's Will Wood pecker's."

"Sh!" warned Nancy. "Wait!" Will came squeezing out when he saw that the coast was clear, and sat on his tail on the side of the tree. The next second he disappeared inside Chick's front door.

"The reason!" cried Chick indignantly.

Just then there was a flash and a crash that nearly split the world in two.

School Time Associations Demand Good Looking School Clothes

Now, the sound of the school bell will soon be heard again—and back to the "Three R's" goes the rising generation. So, what about its clothes? Are they the right kind—the kind to give the well-equipped feeling that adds assurance to the boys' and girls' attitude toward school? Clothes, especially School Clothes, are vastly important! So important that mothers should take a careful inventory and supply proper equipment for these very first weeks.

Tomato Mincemeat

Don't fail to make some green tomato mince meat. Many persons consider it quite as good as regular mincemeat and it's much easier to digest.

Tomato Mincemeat
One peck green tomatoes, 2 lemons, 1 cup chopped suet, 2 cups seeded raisins, 4 pounds sugar, 1 cup vinegar, 2 tablespoons cinnamon, 1 tablespoon nutmeg.

Slice tomatoes and sprinkle well with salt. Let stand two or three hours and then put in a colander to drain over night. Put tomatoes, sliced lemons, vinegar and suet in preserving kettle and cook 30 minutes. Add raisins, sugar and spices and bring to the boiling point. Boil 10 minutes. Put into sterilized jars and seal. Nuts may be added when the pies are baked. Another rule for mock mincemeat is made without suet or vinegar. The tomatoes are more like a preserve. The mincemeat will keep without sealing.

Tomato Mincemeat
Pound for pound of sugar and sliced tomatoes. To 4 pounds tomatoes add 2 pounds raisins and 2 lemons, 2 tablespoons cinnamon, 1 tablespoon cloves

Prepare tomatoes as in preceding recipe. Weigh tomatoes in the morning and add sugar and thinly sliced lemon and cook until the tomatoes are soft. Add raisins and spice and cook ten minutes longer. Put into jars and store in a dark cool place.

Fresh Green Tomato Pie
One medium sized green tomato, ½ lemon, 1½ cups sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 1½ tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt.

Slice tomato and lemon very thin. Line a pie dish with pie crust, sprinkle with flour and sugar and add tomato and lemon. Dot with bits of butter, add the rest of the sugar and flour and cover with the top crust. Bake an hour in a slow oven.

THOUSANDS VISIT WISCONSIN CAPITOL

Madison Is Mecca for Tourists
From All Parts of the Country.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—"Where do they all come from?"

That question is asked dozens of times every day, winter and summer,
spring and fall, by state employees in the $5,000,000 capitol when the guides are making their rounds showing the building to visitors. There is not a day, except Sunday when the guides
are off duty but that from 50 to 1,000
and even more visit the capitol for the first time and are shown through the big building, told where this marble and that granite came from, given a description of the paintings, told the cost of the dome, its height, etc.

It takes the guide just 50 minutes
to take a party from the starting point on the ground floor, up to the executive chamber on the first floor, then to the Supreme court, general hearing room assembly and senate chambers, stopping from time to time to call attention to some big pillars, standing on the balconies and looking up at the dome and then take his party to the south or east wing, to the fourth floor
where the elevators run from which they climb the steps to the dome, or in good weather out onto the roof to get a view of Madison and the four lakes.

There are two guides in the capitol
on duty from 9:30 in the morning until 5 in the evening six days in the week,
52 weeks in the year. They make regular trips over the building one starting on the half hour and the other on the hour.

Tuesday was not an exceptional day,
so the guides declared but at 10:15 in the morning there were 75 making the trip which started at 9:30 and 9:45 in the party which started from the ground floor at 10. When they reached the assembly and senate chambers
they practically filled every seat, as the former and crowded even into the press gallery in the latter to hear the lecture about the room and paintings.

The visitors come from all over Wisconsin and from every state in the Union. Thousands of tourists come to Madison and The Dells from the south, east and west every summer. The hotels are always filled. On Friday, Aug. 19, cars from 17 different states were parked about the capitol square at one time. Farmers drive to Madison with their families for a day's outing. They visit the capitol, the Vilas park, zoo, the state museum in the historical library and drive
through the university grounds. No matter what the weather is the big Wisconsin capitol, generally admitted to be the finest public building in America, attracts many visitors.

KAUKAUNA LOADING UP FOR SUNDAY GAME

Three Players Have Been Released Since Last Game With Appleton.

Kaukauna.—The management of the baseball team is loading up heavily for the remainder of the season. Men-asha will meet Kaukauna next Sunday on the Menasha diamond and the watchword for this week is "make it three victories from the Menasha team."

Krueger, the second baseman, Jensen, first sacker and Wolftrach, guard
ener who made a joke out of his position
last Sunday, have been released and men who have reputations as rovers are being signed up.

Scheleski, former Menasha shortstop will cover that territory for the Electric city gang; Bartlein, crack infielder of Shawano, will cover second base and Eddie Johnson will shift to the hot corner. Renz, formerly a Menasha player will stand among the weeds in the garden with Feldhauser
and Thompson and wait for the high ones.

The game was scheduled to be played on the home grounds but it was shifted to Menasha where the battle will be witnessed by a large crowd to meet expenses, a thing which could not be expected on the home diamond. Kaukauna fans will intend to see the game will not mind going to Menasha. It is probable there will be no more games in this city unless a change should be made later.

FINDS FATHER'S BODY HANGING IN HAY LOFT

Fond du Lac, Wis.—Returning from church Sunday afternoon, Mrs. J. L.
Frank found the body of her father,
Stephen E. Patrick, hanging from a hay loft in a barn on their farm in the town of Fond du Lac. Dependency caused by ill health is the supposed cause of the act.

Mr. Patrick, who was 75 years old, formerly lived in Sheboygan Falls, and
burial will be at that place Wednesday.

Allen refused to make a plea and a plea of not guilty was entered by the court.

Trial was set for Tuesday and the jury for the last March term of Circuit court has been summoned by Judge Wickham. Local officials are taking no chances of another escape
from the county jail here and so Allen's trial was set for the earliest possible date. Allen is being kept in leg irons. The court appointed Attorney R. P. Wilcox to assist District Attorney Victor M. Strolla.

MINISTER TELLS OF WIFE'S CASE

Thinks It Only Short Time Before
Mrs. Sykes Will Be Fully Restored

Rev. A. H. Sykes, former pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., says:

"After seeing what Tania has accomplished in my wife's case, I am convinced that it is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit.
I do not think I have ever seen anything to give such prompt results.
Mrs. Sykes had been in delicate health for ten months, suffering from stomach trouble and nervous breakdown."

"I frequently sought medical advice
but Tania is the only thing that gave her any relief. After taking the medicine only a short time, she was able to sit up and help with the household duties. I think it only a short time until her health will be fully restored."

Tania is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

30,000 SWIMMERS MADE USE OF CITY POOL THIS SUMMER

Another Swimming Tank Is Needed to Accommodate City's Bathers.

Nearly 30,000 persons, young and old, have patronized the municipal swimming pool this season and the cost of operating at for the 55 days it has been open is slightly in excess of 2 cents per person. The original cost of the pool in 1914 was $4,000. The cost of water and wages of Willis Wood, caretaker and guard, this season amounted to $366.50. Repairs and improvements increased the sum to slightly over $600.

The greatest number of boys and men that made use of the pool any one day was 600 and the greatest number of girls and women 400. The average daily attendance was estimated at 350 by both Mr. Wood and A. J. Hall, who is in charge of the pumping station. The tank is filled with fresh filtered water every other day at which time it is given a thorough cleaning. The water is as clear as spring water and every movement of a swimmer beneath the surface can be seen.

Not Enough Room
The patronage greatly exceeds the capacity of the pool and an addition of one is badly needed. There are only 65 lockers, each supposed to be used by only one person, but they are frequently used by three or four persons. During the month of June when the patronage was heaviest Mr. Wood found it necessary to enforce one hour shifts in order that all might be accommodated. Everyone in the pool was required to vacate it at the end of an hour, when it was turned over to another crowd in waiting.

During the heated period of summer many children made a practice of bringing their lunches with them and remaining all day. Quite often the children are accompanied by their mothers or older sisters. The hours of the swimming pool are from 9 to 12 in the morning, from 1 to 5 in the afternoon, and from 6:45 until dusk in the evening. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays are set aside for girls and women and Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays for boys and men. The ages of the girls and women who patronize the pool range from 5 to 50 years and those of the boys and men from 4 to 70 years.

Dress at Home
Many girls who patronize the pool don their bathing suits at home and are brought to the pool in automobiles. Mr. Wood said there has been an evolution of the bathing suits worn by girls and young women during the four years he has been in charge of the pool. At first the bathers appeared in skirts and bloomers, stockings and shoes, but these have all been discarded for the more sensible one or two piece close fitting suit which offers no handicap in the water. About the only thing the girls retain of their former suits is their cap and since the bobbing of hair has become popular many dispensed with that. Of the 75 girls and women who patronized the pool Monday afternoon about one third had their hair bobbed and used no cap.

The girl with the bobbed hair has an advantage over those with long tresses, many of whom dried them in the sun. A roof on the north side of the gallery of the pool served as a place for sun baths and was in constant use. Mr. Wood says the division of the patronage is about 40 per cent girls and 60 per cent boys. Girls learn to swim more readily than boys and are more graceful in the water. Very few use devices for learning to swim. After gaining the stroke and getting a little confidence it is not long before girls make for deep water and the highest diving platforms. A popular pastime is diving for pieces of rock or other objects thrown into the water. Another pastime is playing "tag." A wooden horse that was introduced during the summer lasted only a few days because of rough usage.

Owing to the fact the city has only one municipal pool no attempt has been made to hold swimming or diving contests. It is possible that the old pumping station which has an intake from the river and an outlet will be converted into an additional pool next season and in such events regular contests will be held. Among the expert swimmers who patronize the pool are Silvia Wheeler, Rosemon Lemke, Helen Wolf, Helen Winsey, George H. Boehm, William Tappert, Russell Davis and "Red" Stovett. The pool will close for the season early in September.

WRITES BOOK ON "LOST DAUPHIN"

Green Bay Librarian Describes
History of Fox Valley
Pioneer.

In the observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the arrival of the "Lost Dauphin of France" at Green Bay, the Green Bay Public Museum is issuing a book written by Miss Deborah B. Martin, librarian of the Kellogg public library, in which the life of Eleazer Williams, the supposed "Lost Dauphin," is clearly portrayed. The purpose of the book is to acquaint Wisconsin people with the early history of their state and to emphasize historical facts which are not generally known. It is the plan of the museum to give the book a statewide sale and to make it available to the public at every news stand and bookshop in the state.

Miss Martin's book traces the life of Williams from the time he landed the little village school at Deerfield, Mass., little village school at Hogsburg, N. Y., in 1858. According to tradition, Eleazer Williams was the heir to the French throne who mysteriously disappeared about the close of the eighteenth century. The story goes that he was brought to this country and reared in obscurity. He became a figure in the history of Wisconsin when, accompanied by New York Indians whom he had converted, he came to the Fox River valley and began extensive missionary work among the Oneida Indians.

The author speculates on the supposition as to whether Williams was the real "Lost Dauphin" and describes the visit of Prince De Joinville of France to Green Bay in 1841, when the latter came to investigate the identity of the supposed former French prince.

Passages of the book are vividly portrayed in sketches drawn by Miss Frederika Crane, a well known Wisconsin artist. The titles of the various sketches are suggestive of their subject. Included among them are the following: Eleazer Williams as a lad at Long Meadow; Wreck of the Walk in the Water, which was the ship that brought Williams to Green Bay; Poore Medal Given to the Oneidas; Indian War Dance; Pipe of Peace; Dance Joseph Jourdan's home; Chel-sea China used in the William's home; Ping Lustre China from the William's home and a Portrait of Eleazer Williams by Fagnant.

The book describes Williams as a man of sterling character and challenges previous statements that he was dissolute and exerted a demoralizing influence over the Indians. The author maintains that Williams was a man of honest and sincere convictions else he would not have attained the high place given him by the Indians in their secret councils.

EXIT SHIMMY!

The toddle and other "slipshod" dances are passing out in favor of stately steps. Here are Arthur and Gertrude Kretlow doing the new "Conversation Waltz" at the national convention of dancing masters in New York.

WARNS CAR DRIVERS OFF CLOSED ROADS

To stop the promiscuous travel of closed roads by indifferent motorists, A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner, is posting large printed notices in conspicuous places. Where a road is closed and a detour is provided, the notice will warn motorists that travel on the closed road is penalized by law and will direct them to the detour. Where no detour is provided or where work is being done that permits the use of the road, the notice will read "Danger, travel at your own risk. This road is under construction."

The latter sign measures 25 by 22 inches and is printed in large letters which may be read at a considerable distance. Posting of these signs relieves the county from liability if persons or machines are injured or damaged while traveling such high ways.

County Clerk Kamps Is Efficient Aid To Cupid

Page Mr. Cupid, please! County Clerk Herman J. Kamps has placed a premium on marriage. As the natural result thereof, it is to be expected that an unprecedented rush on the county marriage license bureau will occur within the immediate future.

The premium will be awarded every prospective bride at the time the marriage license is issued. It is a book entitled "Treasures," or more explicitly, "The Bride's Book of Treasures." It consists of 80 pages of fine lithograph paper and five pages of certificates charmingly bound with leather finished heather paper.

The first few pages are designed for recording the important events in the young people's married life. The first page is a complete record of the wedding. Other pages provide space for the names of the gifts the guests, the home, "Our First Vacation," "Our First Christmas" and "Our First Anniversary." The remaining pages are filled with recipes, menus and helpful household hints.

The certificates in the last five pages are a novel feature of the book. They have been authorized by merchants of Appleton and neighboring cities and are good for so much cash when applied on purchases by the young people after the wedding. The cost of issuing the book was borne by the advertisers.

Young women who have seen the novel book are much delighted with it. One young lady said "Tell Mr. Kamps to save one for me." So page Mr. Cupid, please!

The New Price Sets It Apart From Competition

The Cleveland holds a distinctive place among light cars by the constant, better service it renders to its owners.

On city boulevards or country roads, the Cleveland performs as few cars perform. Its highly refined overhead-valve motor, found under the hood of no other car, is alive with power that smiles at long hills and welcomes a request for speed. Power, too, that throttles down to a creeping pace in crowded traffic and answers to the first touch of the throttle to "get away."

We would be glad to have you compare it with any car for ease of handling, comfort in riding on smooth roads and rough roads, and genuine excellence in its construction throughout.

Harding Soon Will Know Something of the Trouble Wilson Had.

BY COL. E. M. HOUSE
Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Co., London.—The desire of the Japanese conference fairly well defined the scope of the meeting. It is under standable but it would seem to be a more difficult task than would appear on the surface. The Japanese probably would be glad to confine the discussion to a reduction of armaments as was at first proposed but this too has its difficulties. In order to come to an agreement about such a reduction, it is essential that some understanding should be had regarding policies, and if this is to be reached then the scope of the conference must necessarily be widened. Except for the absence of Bol- leum, Brazil and Spain the conference might be a meeting of the council of the league of nations. If it were and we had taken our place in that body, it would not be within the right of any member to ask in advance for the agenda. Any subject proposed by any delegate would be a proper subject for debate. But since it is not a meeting of that council, Japan is within her rights when she asks that an agreement be reached in advance as to the questions to be discussed. It has been easy to criticize Woodrow Wilson and his colleagues at Paris for doing what was done and leaving undone things which should have been done but Washington soon will begin to understand the difficulties which surround the conference as the one proposed.

Great Britain is anxious for the conference to succeed. Before the war she proposed a naval holiday, which Germany rejected. She desires one now even more than then. And above all, she desires peace in the Pacific and this may not be if Japan and the United States cannot find a common ground for agreement.

The viewpoint of the British de- ments is similar to our own prob- lems pertaining to the Pacific and whither they do send representa- tives to the conference, their views will be respected by the delegates from Great Britain.

Neither the British nor their de- ments would look with equanimity on the shifting of powers in the Philip- pines. They are content for the United States to hold them or to give them guaranteed independence. But if those islands had, by some gamble of war, fallen to the Japanese instead of to the United States, Britain and her dominions would have considered it a matter of grave concern. In con- junction with her other possessions, the Philippines would give Japan the mastery of the Pacific in the eastern hemisphere; and on this intrenched there, it is doubtful whether the com- bined naval strength of Great Britain and the United States could unsettle her.

But however much Great Britain and her dominions may sympathize with us in our general attitude re- garding Asiatic problems, and espe- cially those relating to the Pacific, it has been stated by one of the partici- pants that the consensus of the re- cent imperial conference was in favor of a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty. The only alternative consid- ered feasible was something in the na- ture of a triple treaty, or understand- ing, between Great Britain, the United States and Japan.

Great Britain does not want to of- fend in any way public opinion in the United States, but it is felt that a re- fusal to renew the treaty with Japan would not alone be a breach of faith but would endanger peace in the Far East. Since the treaty in the first place probably was made on the part of Great Britain, it is not surprising that she should be further ad- vanced by both Russia and Germany in Asia and does not wish to appear to desert her ally now that this danger has disappeared. Furthermore, in the case of a general understanding by the three powers, it is contended that a close understand- ing between Great Britain and Japan is necessary for the maintenance of peace, the theory being that under the action instead of dual action might lead to differences, and differences often times lead to war.

The invitation extended to China was a move in the right direction. While the republic is at present more or less helpless from a military view- point, yet it is only justice that so vast a population should have a voice in a conference which must deal with matters in which they have a vital interest.

Therefore, if it should develop that a treaty between the Pacific powers is advisable, then by all means let it be a quadruple treaty. This would satis- fy public opinion in the United States and would give China a place in the councils of those upon whom rests that responsibility of maintaining peace in more than half the world.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Nearly $2,000,000,000 will have been expended from the United States treasury for the railroad when the administration's railroad bill is enacted. Representative Rayburn, Texas, Democrat, told the house Monday.

Direct appropriations to date total $1,750,000,000 and another appropria- tion of $200,000,000 from the treasury will be necessary soon, he predicted.

TENT NO. 4 WINS SCOUT STUNT PRIZE

BY HARRY LEITH
Camp Reporter

Camp Onaway.—Merrill Schell and Richard Joyce won the first prize in the stunt contest held Thursday night, around the camp fire at Onaway camp. Joyce was dressed as a duck and had paddles as the upper and lower jaws. Merrill Schell acted as the supreme trainer, and permitted the boys to ask the educated duck questions. Then the duck would answer the questions by quacking one for yes and twice for no. Many clever questions and an- swers were given and the whole camp was greatly delighted. Tent No. 1 put on a boxing match. Tent 2 gave a mock trial, 3 demonstrated several tricks on boys in the audience. Tent 4 had the duck stunt and won the prize. Tent 5 gave a fire blowing and eating stunt put on by Philip Sutherland and William Schannan. Tent No. 6 gave a tumbling act by "The Flip Flop Brothers." Edward Frieders being the flip and Harry Col- vin being the flop. Tent 7 gave a very excellent example of a jazz orchestra, using kettles, dish pans, and other utensils, as instruments. No 8 gave a wrestling match won by Edward Frieders. Boyd Schwaeger being the victim. La Vahn Maesch and Hartly London put on a life saving stunt for tent No. 9. Tent No. 10, the last on the program, gave a marvelous mem- ory stunt. Peter Schwaeger being the "rememberer."

The Sheboygan Boy Scouts won from the Appleton team by a score of 15 to 12. Thursday afternoon on the Ona- way diamond. The officers of the camp also won a game from the Ona- way team Friday afternoon by a score of 18 to 12. A return game has been scheduled with the Sheboygan boys and it is expected that with more practice that the victory may come back to the Island.

LOCAL MAN SPEAKS AT STATE MEETING

Rev. F. L. Schreckenbergt At- tending Lutheran Synod Convention.

The Rev. F. L. Schreckenbergt, pas- tor of Trinity English Lutheran church of this city was one of the speakers at the fifteenth annual con- vention of the Wisconsin conference of the English Evangelical Lutheran Synod of the Northwest which is meeting Aug. 23 and 24 at the Church of the Reformation in Milwaukee.

"Striving for Efficiency" is the con- vention theme. The session opened at 3 o'clock Tuesday evening with a ves- per service. Dr. H. D. Hoover, pres- ident of Carthage college, gave an ad- dress on "The educational value of the Sunday school."

The Rev. Mr. Schreckenbergt re- sponded to the address of welcome which was given by the Rev. Paul R. Siebert of Milwaukee. The elec- tion of officers took place at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. S. P. Long, pastor of the Wicker park Ev- angelical Lutheran church of Chicago, Ill., was to give the closing ad- dress on "Eternal life calls for an ef- ficient church."

An auto ride through the city and parks was to be a feature of the en- tertainment.

The present officers of the associa- tion are the Rev. F. L. Schrecken- berg, president; the Rev. Jonas H. Dressler, vice president; Charles P. Sorenson, Neenah, secretary; Mrs. D. C. Bagger, Milwaukee, treasurer.

COAL DELIVERIES ON RIVER FALLING OFF

There is a slight decrease in the amount of coal that is being brought up the river, most of the local plants being well supplied. The tugs and barges are now supplying the mills further down the river. The low stage of water is interfering with navigation and the tugs are frequently called upon to help each other out.

HORTONVILLE MEN HERE TO BOOST COMING FAIR

Several automobiles carrying Hor- tonville banners passed through Ap- pleton Wednesday morning boosting for the Hortonville fair to be held Aug. 31, Sept. 1 and 2. The Horton- ville band formed part of the delega- tion and played several selections on the street corners.

Heating the Home

AS NEW uses for petroleum products are developed, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) immediately organizes its distribution system to supply the demand, whenever and wherever it may arise.

For example, during the past two or three years a number of devices which substitute kerosene for coal in heating the home have been per- fected and put on the market.

A large number of these burners have been installed in the territory served by this Company. The result has been a heavy demand for Perfection Kerosene, which has proved to be an ideal fuel.

To meet this demand for Perfection Kero- sene, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has so arranged its distribution system as to be able to deliver to patrons Perfection Kerosene for heating purposes in any quan- tity which may be desired.

The bigness and efficiency of this organiza- tion enables you to adopt kerosene as a fuel for heating your home, with complete assurance that you always will be able to get this fuel in such quantities as you may require, whenever and wherever you may need it.

Thus does a big company, conscious of its responsibility to the public, and to its 19,478 stockholders, quickly adapt its organization to changing conditions.

PLAY VOLLEYBALL IN SPITE OF HEAT

The appearance of the gymnasium floor of the Y. M. C. A. every evening gives one the impression that the ac- tivities of the association are at their height. On the contrary, they are just beginning, or rather are being con- tinued from the summer session.

The summer heat had no effect up- on the spirits or the efforts of the men who gathered at 5:15 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and played volleyball with a vim that made many of their youngsters look lazy. Two scheduled classes have been conducted all summer; the fall classes will not begin until October.

The Y. M. C. A. has been a popular place all through the summer months and there is every indication that there will be more activity this year than ever before.

The physical department has an enviable record in teaching men and boys to swim. Many boys and men who were mere beginners in the spring now are expert swimmers and divers. The regular period of instruc- tion in swimming will be continued through September, three times a week. The periods are on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 4:30 to 5:30 and 7:30 to 8:30.

CONFESSIONS BARE "SWINDLE TRUST"

Chicago in connection with their knowledge of the operations of the gang. Prompted by the example of Harshman, they have indicated a desire to tell all they know.
Close connection between Leet and French was indicated in a letter French dictated to the Cleveland man a few minutes before the federal agents swooped down on his room at the La Salle hotel.
"He! He! I fooled them all," French cackled to a stenographer taking his letter to Leet, and also into a government dictaphone.
"Clingin and his coyotes can't touch me now."
"I believe Clinnin is an honest man, but I apprehend he is a better soldier than a lawyer."

Outlines Scheme

The letter went on to outline the plan for the Milwaukee deal, whereby Leet was to go to Washington and handle that end of the negotiations through a man designated by French only as "Waller." The letter mentioned a bonus for "Waller" when the job was completed.
"There seems to be a well grounded feeling among the banks here that I am going to do some harm to their interests," the letter continues. "They are right about that. They think I am sort of a menace to them, and I am. But as long as they don't discover my connection with the Milwaukee deal, no harm can be done that I know of."

The letter told Leet of the great secrecy which surrounded the swindler's suite at the LaSalle hotel, of how they were not registered and their room number didn't appear on the books so that the "coyotes would get wise" to where their headquarters were.
The letter said the president of the City National bank of Dayton knew of what French was attempting to do but couldn't expose him because "he had no knowledge of where we expect to buy banks, or of the Milwaukee deal."

French indicated he feared the Dayton bank president.
Badger Bank Saved
Milwaukee, Wis.—The full story of how a Milwaukee bank, capitalized for $500,000 was saved from wrecking by timely arrests of some of the principals in the gigantic swindle ring of Chicago, is expected to be uncovered Wednesday.
Officials of the bank, said to be involved in the transaction, Wednesday emphatically denied the proposed sale in which, it was alleged, they were to be paid $500,000 with bogus certificates of deposit.
Harshman's confession said a small Wisconsin bank had been wrecked by the swindle ring several weeks ago. Government officials have refused so far to give the name of the bank or to state whether the institution is still operating or has been closed.

GIANT AIRCRAFT BURNS IN MIDAIR

as nearly perfect as could be designed.
She needed fear no wind, they said, and the only real danger they apprehended was a direct hit by a bolt of lightning.
Lightning, they said, might possibly ignite the gasoline vapor in spite of ventilation hung about the gas tanks.
Accommodations for the crew were the best that could be devised. There was much room in the main cabin and there was a passage running the full length of the gas bag—695 feet.
Colonel Campbell of the British air forces designed the ZR-2.
It was planned that she would carry thirty tons of gasoline when she finally hopped off from Pulham for the United States.
That it was believed would be sufficient for a return trip, if it had been necessary.
Captain Maxfield of the United States navy was on board.
The remainder of the crew was composed of 31 British air service men who were instructing the Americans in the handling of the gas bag, preparatory to starting the flight for the United States within a few days.
The chief measurements of the ZR-2 were:
Length 695 feet.
Diameter 85 feet, 4 inches.
Capacity 2,700,000 cubic feet. (The R34 which made a trans-Atlantic flight had a capacity of 2,000,000 cubic feet).
Lifting power, 83 tons.
Total horsepower, 2,100.
Engines, six of 350 horsepower each.
Cruising speed, 60 miles an hour.
Cruising range, 6,000 miles.
The machine was capable of reaching a height of 25,000 feet.
The ZR-2 had a control system rivaling that of big ocean liners. The skipper in his cabin could communicate instantly with any part of the ship. Under his immediate control were the ballast tanks, gasoline supplies, steering gear and the bombing levers.
The observer, for several days previous to the disaster, had been hinting that all was not well with the ZR-2.
He stated that girders had been bent and lattice work buckled under the strain.
The ship's engines were also said to be giving considerable trouble.
These defects, according to the observer, had been kept secret for several weeks, but it was feared she would be prevented from attempting the Atlantic voyage this year because of these deficiencies.
The last successful flight of the ZR-2 made July 17, occupied nine hours. On that voyage the vessel was alleged to have shown weaknesses.
On that flight the big ship rose from her mooring mast at Bedford 7:30 in the evening. The vessel headed for London but turned back on encountering a thunderstorm.

LAWMAKING IS SLOWED UP BY SENATE DEBATE RULES

and gave members of the senate a chance to work uninterruptedly on the tax bill there wouldn't be any new revenue law and the old one would have to be reenacted. The senate has been in session only a few months but the usual troubles of a new administration have been augmented this time by the clash in interests between the eastern and western Republicans. The latter have played the better strategy and have managed to get consideration for most of their bills but the easterners have not had effective leadership. As a consequence there is an admission now that much more progress would have been made if the tax bill had been given right of way in both houses and if President Harding had insisted upon such priority. Congress is glad of a chance, however, to leave the writing of the tax bill to the senate finance committee and get away on a brief vacation.

The Knights of Columbus will give a picnic for members and their families at Stroebe's Island Labor day, Monday, Sept. 6. Games and contests will be provided for the afternoon. The trip will be made in automobiles which will leave St. Joseph church at 9:30 in the morning.

SCHULTZ PLANS TO HAVE LAUGH ON OSHKOSH SQUAD

Big Pitcher Eager to Get Back at "Razzers" in Game Here Sunday.

While Appleton and Oshkosh are battling at Brandt park next Sunday to determine the champion ship of the Fox River Valley league, Kimberly will be playing the Edison team at New London and Kaukauna mixes with Menasha at the latter's home park. Every game will determine the relative positions of the clubs with the exception of Kaukauna which is hopelessly in last place.

Interest of course will center on Brandt park. Word from Oshkosh is to the effect that a large number of Sawdust City fans will accompany the team here with the avowed intention of getting the coat of Hank Schultz. The big pitcher has been the target of Oshkosh fans all season. They have razzed him unmercifully and it may be said that this razzing has not under his skin.

Hank however is determined that the Oshkosh fans can veil themselves hoarse next Sunday before he will pay any attention to them. He can outpitch Stevenson any day in the week if he will just keep cool and he intends to do just that little thing.

Harvey Priebe, who was hit by a fielded ball in last Sunday's game with Kaukauna, suffered no ill effects from the blow and will be in the game next Sunday. His head bears a little mark where the ball struck.

Kimberly fans are thoroughly disappointed in the blow up of Jack Shunners last Sunday. Jack has been making a real comeback, pitching sterling ball and it was too bad that he had to blow up in a game that Kimberly was so desirous of winning. Priebe, a newcomer pitched a good game for the Millmen after Shunners was taken out.

Downey Credits Nose Scar For Win

Cleveland—Bryan Downey is proud of the deeply stenciled scar across the bridge of his nose.

He believes it was this wound that gave him his chance to knock Johnny Wilson as cold as a herring in their recent much-disputed match here.

"It was this way," says Downey. Wilson grazed me with his head as we were coming out of a clinch. He reopened the cut I received with Ralph Schappert at Dayton over a year ago.

Spurt.

"He saw the blood squirt. He thought I was in a bad way. He came in to finish me.

"Before this he was too cautious. He was going away when I hit out at him.

"When he came in to me he left the opening for the punch I had been saving for him.

He didn't think I had any fight left in me.

"Then it happened. I caught him flush on the jaw with a right. He dropped like a log. I knocked him cold.

"With any other referee in the world he would have been counted out.

"If it hadn't been for the reopening of the nose wound I might not have gotten my big chance.

"So you see why I'm proud of this scar. It was a godsend to me.

"They took six stitches in it after the fight. But it's okay now.

Dope.

"I'm using a lot of dope to toughen it up—beef brine, tanning oil, alcohol, alum—in fact a little bit of everything.

It's funny how many suggestions I get from friends on how to toughen up this little spot.

"One of my best friends suggested that nitroglycerine would do the work.

"I don't want any explosion to happen at Boyles Thirty Acres on Labor Day.

"Why did I save Wilson a return match right away? It was to ease my own conscience.

"I didn't want to claim anything about which there was any doubt.

"Those who saw the fight in Cleveland know that I won. Everyone but the referee said so.

Doubters.

"But a lot of folk didn't see it. So

Bryan Downey—His Smile and His Nose-scar

I wanted to do it over again to convince the doubters.

"I could have gone on fighting middleweights and made money. That wouldn't mean anything to me.

"What I did in Cleveland I can do in Jersey City.

"Billy that's what I call Mrs. Downey, and I am going to leave Ethel Ann, our eight-month-old baby, with the folks at Columbus.

"We are going down to Freddy Welsh's health farm to finish my training.

And as quick as that fight is over Billy and I are going to catch a train right back to Columbus and the baby.

Ethel Ann.

"When Ethel Ann sees her daddy next time she is going to see a champion with no doubt attached to his crown."

Downey has one of those natural Irish smiles on his face all the time. His voice is as soft as a glove. The stenciled scar across the bridge of his nose, alone betrays his business.

And he thinks more of Billy and Ethel Ann than of the boxing crown he is confident of rewinning.

Cop Is Poor Boxer

Harry Darnelle, Washington's fight ne cop who whipped 25 or more in a free for all, has had his first professional fight.

As a heavyweight title prospect Darnelle lackeduster.

He doesn't know the ring arts. He stands flat-footed arms dangling and swings.

As a boxer he is a good cop.

Ring smartness can't be learned in a day or a month, a year.

Experience is the greatest teacher.

The road afraid of Darnelle is long rough, doubtful. Manufacturing an other Dempsey is an ash can proposition.

Ivory.

Hands are getting harder. Hands are growing brittle.

Joe Lynch broke his mitt on Pete Herman's hinge projection.

Benny Leonard bruised his thumb on a paring partner's dome.

Willie Jackson popped his hand on his playmate's cheek.

These might be called bone-headed plays.

Actors.

Americans have to doff the darts to Georges Carpenter and Suzanne Lenglen.

They outact us. They were born for the stage but gave the footlight game the double cross.

When Carpenter faced that 90 000 odd gathering at Jersey City he smiled, he pantomimed he acted with the finish of a Barrymore.

When Suzanne skipped onto our tennis courts for the first time at Forest Hills she too danced herself into every body's heart.

Georges lasted four rounds. Suzanne—well, she had a break of tough luck.

Lonesomeness.

It's true that a lull precedes a big storm. Also it's quiet after one.

James Harrison Dempsey can't understand why he hasn't collisions on his back caused by would-be legitimate challengers crowding him.

The champ probably has forgotten that all these second-raters attended the Jersey City matinee and got the tip straight that he hasn't gone back far enough for them to make it interesting for him and the cash customers.

Dempsey is still coming—not going—and he's mighty lonesome.

Sport Views And News

There is something wrong with the Lake Shore league. Witness what happened last Sunday. "Fireball" Logan, released by the New London team of the Fox River Valley league because he was ineffective against the slugging teams in this wheel, signed with Juneau and shutout the Green Bay team last Sunday 8 to 0. Apparently the shore leaguers are weak hitters or a change of scenery was mighty beneficial to Logan. The "fire ball" hurler surely was going bad in his last few starts in this league. Then take the case of Spencer Hoath. He was a whizkid st. Tuncen but he has found the going pretty hard in the valley. It looks as though the valleymen have it on the shore leaguers when it comes to hitting.

Revenge is sweet. During the hot stove season the Cubs swapped old Cy Williams to the Phillies. The Chicago management figured that the veteran had just about sung his swan song as a major leaguer. But they were all on the wrong track. Williams has been going like a spring chicken all the year and only recently he pulled out a homer that sent the Windy City tribe down to inglorious defeat.

Out in the western association, they still have pop bottle showers. It's a gay life for a ball player or umpire in this league. Forl Smith and Henry Lett wrapped on the diamond and before the game was over the fans made it up with the visiting team. A number of players were banged up and some of the fans made fit candidates for the hospital list. As we have said before league baseball in the

BARTMANN'S STORES

WHO IS REAL BOSS OF MIDDLEWEIGHTS

Downey and Wilson Will Settle Their Feud in Jersey City Labor Day.

New York—On Labor Day, Messrs. Wilson and Downey will make one more stab at climbing that most tantalizing elevation—the middleweight crossed pole. Some slippery climb tree that.

Since poor Ketchel went away fate seems to have coated that shaft until it would defy the most adroit steeplejack. As for mere middle left athletes well, they've been slopping, slipping and swishing around that shaft like bullfrogs on a ballroom floor.

Everybody seems to go slushing down—nobody ever gets to the top for long. They may reach the goal at the top but always with butter fingers with which to hang on. Seven different men have shinned up to the pinnacle since Ketchel's day, and each man thought he had a hay hook sunk into the title. Then ZIP! and away he went, with some other fellow cringing down upon him from a slippery perilous height.

Since the inception of a middle weight kingdom there has been no such quick shifting of throne warmers. Papke, Klaus, Chick McCoy, O'Dowd, Wilson and Downey have all had the satisfaction of calling themselves the successors of the Nonpareil, Fitzsimmons, Ryan and Ketchel.

Right now the middleweight title is being yanked about by Bryan Downey and Johnny Wilson like an old rubber hoof in dispute between two bull pups. Wilson says he's champion because he was knocked out in Cleveland when he looked around to see who was tickling his toes in one of the corners. Downey says he's champion because he sent Wilson down for a count that sounded like some one leading a yearly bank report.

The Cleveland boxing commission says that Downey is champion midweight of the world. The Massachusetts commission says that Cleveland commission is talking through its knobby and that Johnny is the legitimate champion. That was the commable Mr. Rickard's cue. He has set Labor day as the Greased Pole day. He's going to erect it in the prize saucer at Jersey City, and on Labor day there will be some tall shunning for a crown worth while. Come on Downey, and you, Wilson—'Do Your Stuff!'

Watching The Scoreboard

Yesterday's hero Cy Williams, second citation in two days. His homer scored the only run for Philadelphia against his old team mates—the Cubs.

The Philadelphia Athletics showed their stamina by coming up in the tenth to win from the White Sox, 6 to 5. Urban Faber, Chicago's ace, was the victim.

The Tigers put in a spendthrift afternoon, spending eight more runs than were necessary to win from Washington. The score was 12 to 3.

Boston's Red Sox made sixteen hits and almost a run for every hit, St. Louis being crushed 15 to 2.

The Yankees stepped on Cleveland's heels by winning, 6 to 1. Heavy hitting put them within one game of the lead.

Brooklyn took a ten inning beating from Cincinnati, the Reds pouring five runs over the pan in that final session.

The Card made it 3 out 4 from the Giants with a 10 to 7 win and Boston's win over Pittsburgh, 4 to 3, kept the Pirates in a good position.

ERTLE WILL REFEREE KILBANE-FRUSH FIGHT

New York—Tommy McGinty, the premier fight promoter of Cleveland, who will stage the featherweight championship battle between Champion Johnny Kilbane and Danny Frush, the English featherweight, at the big baseball park at Cleveland in September, has arrived in town. McGinty stated that in all probability Harry Ertle who refereed the Dempsey Carpenter fight, will be selected to referee the Kilbane Frush battle. He also stated that there will be two judges, a decision must be given and that Kilbane is to receive $65,000 for his end.

Henry C. Wallace and Norma Talmadge, two victims of the Summer golf bug. Henry, the secretary of agriculture, affects the odd hat and the vigorous stroke on the links. Norma hopes to have sufficiently recovered from golfing it is said to resume photoplaying in the fall.

Louisville, Minneapolis and Kansas City Battling for Minor Flag.

By Lewis Byrer.

By United Press Leased Wire.

Columbus, Ohio—With the season still a month to go, the pennant isn't in, by any means in the American association.

But the race has narrowed down to three teams with the Louisville Colonels as odds-on favorites. The Minneapolis Millers and the Kansas City Blues are the other two given a chance for the hunting by the wise ones.

The Millers are two and a half games behind the Colonels and have been going better of late than at any time this season. But the Colonels have also been playing heads up base ball despite accidents and failure of Tommy Long, star pitcher, to come through.

It looked as though the Colonels' chances had gone two weeks ago when Bruno Betzel, veteran second baseman, broke his ankle. But the

LAWRENCE GRID MEN WILL START PRACTICE SEPT. 16

McChesney Expects Heavy Team Will Represent College This Year.

Football practice at Lawrence college is to begin Sept. 16 it has been announced by Coach H. D. McChesney who has returned to Appleton after spending almost the entire summer inducing young men of athletic ability to come to Lawrence for their education. Mr. McChesney is elated with the success of his campaign and expects to have material for championship teams in football, basketball and track.

Lawrence field has been placed in excellent condition during the summer months and now efforts are being made to secure sufficient funds for building a fieldhouse on the grounds for use of the players. Athletics now have no place to rest between halves of football games and between events in track meets. It is said that a suitable fieldhouse can be erected for about $2,500 or $3,000.

Lawrence probably will be represented by the heaviest team in its history. Last year's men now are bigger and stronger than they were a year ago and several of the new players will tip the beam near the 200 pound mark. The line probably will average at least 180 pounds and the backfield won't be much lighter.

In spite of this great bulk McChesney hopes to have the fastest team in the conference. Nearly all of the men who stand chances of making the team were selected for their speed as well as their bulk and the coach hopes to be able to teach the big fellows how to handle themselves. It should be a great year for Lawrence with a wealth of athletic material to work with.

CHINESE WIDOW DEFIES OLD CHINESE CUSTOMS

By United Press Leased Wire.

St. Paul, Minn.—East is east and west is west, but the two clashed here Tuesday.

Center of an oriental tragedy is pretty Mrs. Moy Hee widow of a wealthy Chinese merchant, who was recently killed by an auto here.

Relatives of the late Moy Hee insist that the widow should return to China and remain there. The custom of the orient forbids the widow to remarry.

"I shall remain right here in America," she said. She indicated she may marry again.

Relatives were shocked. It was an unbelievable attitude.

Both sides have employed legal counsel. Mrs. Moy inherited much property and relatives declare it would a calamity should any one out side the family secure any of the property.

A young Chinaman, lawyers said, was warned to leave town immediately. Mrs. Moy's friends said it would mean death for him to return.

But Mrs. Moy is obdurate. She believes American laws will not permit Chinese customs to interfere with her happiness.

325 MILES OF NEW CONCRETE HIGHWAY BUILT THIS YEAR

Average of Three Miles of Paving a Day During Summer Season.

Concrete paving has been laid on Wisconsin state highways this season at the rate of three miles per day, according to a statement by A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer, in which he declares that the unprecedented rate at which roads are being built is the result of foresight and planning and not of circumstance.

The prevailing economic situation which reduced the price of labor and material made possible the year's construction program. Mr. Hirst said. He explained that it had been the policy of the state highway department during the last four years to undertake only the new projects which were absolutely necessary. This left a large balance of funds each year and the accumulation of these balances from year to year allowed the department to take advantage of the situation this year.

Construction work, according to Mr. Hirst's statement, will aggregate 325 miles of concrete pavement, 1,200 miles of gravel and other materials and 700 miles of grading this season. Sixty concrete mixers are being used for the concrete work.

Freight costs, Mr. Hirst said, are the only unfavorable factor in the whole situation. He explains that these are being evaded, however, by the extensive use of local material where short hauls of gravel and sand can be made with trucks.

Mileage of concrete construction for the various counties this year is given as follows: Outagamie, 8.55; Brown, 20.52; Winnebago, 9.30; Calumet, 5.13; Dodge, 30.58; Douglas, 6.80; Dunn, 4.06; Eau Claire, .80; Fond du Lac, 15.59; Green, 7.50; Green Lake, 7.92; Jackson, 2.59; Jefferson, 9.23; Juneau, 2; Kenosha, 6.43; Manitowish, 7.27; Milwaukee, 10.74; Oconto, 3.27; Portage, 6.62; Racine, 27.95; Rock, 6; St. Croix, 3.55; Sheboygan, 5.96; Walworth, 30.33; Washington, 15.16; Waukesha, 45.45; Waushara, .72; Wood, 20.23.

THE STAGE

Novelties With "Listen To Me"

Many of our expensive productions are absolute failures; not for want of being wonderful productions, nor for lack of gorgeous costuming and costly settings, but because they do not cope with the public's desire.

This season Le Comte and Fleisher have produced a brilliant musical extravaganza, "Listen To Me," which will be presented at the Appleton Theatre, Tuesday, Aug. 30.

"Listen To Me" has seemingly hit the keynote to success with its bewildering novelties, for each scene of this popular play offers something new. The first novel feature is the Devil and six temptations in a captivating scene; each temptation being gorgeously given to represent the character they play. A mystifying transformation conveys the local color from the Devil's palace to the North pole, where a midnight frolic ensues. The building of a snow man and the Eskimo dance are clever manipulations of novel ideas; while the Northern lights play wondrous capers above the horizon. The last act presents a dream like candyland where characters are present in candy-like costumes—chocolate drops, gum drops, kisses and ough drops—peppermint sticks, pop-corn balls and wintermints all pass through candyland, and numerous others, including the Jack o' Diamonds and Queen of Hearts with a bewitching "pony" ballet add to the stirring novelty of "Listen To Me."

POSTOFFICE HEADS WANT ALL HOUSES NUMBERED

Postmasters of the cities of the United States are urged to use their influence to have every house within the limits of their cities properly numbered," said Postmaster Gustave Keller, leaders contained in the postal bulletin received at the Appleton postoffice Wednesday.

"Appleton enjoys the distinction of having its houses unusually well numbered," said Postmaster Gustave Keller. "It may be, however, that some of the houses recently built have not been numbered. Those who dwell in houses not numbered may ascertain their numbers by consulting the city engineer."

Nearly all homes in the city are equipped with proper mail receptacles. Mr. Keller said, and so far local citizens have been very willing to cooperate with the postoffice and the department in making such improvements as would expedite the service.

Skat Winners

Eight tables were in play at the weekly skat tournament at Elk club Monday evening. Prizes were won by E. C. Otto, Henry Schell and John Grootenont.

Few Farmers Near Here Are Without Silos

Realizing that if they are to meet lower market prices successfully they must cut production costs to the bone, Outagamie-co. farmers are turning to up-to-date farming equipment and especially to the silo as a means of saving with the present economic crisis, according to rural carriers of the Appleton postoffice, who have observed the unprecedented number of silos which are being built on farms along their routes this season.

Silos of various types and of cement and wood construction have been built in a considerable number. Finishing touches are now being put on many of them in order that the present corn crop may be cared for. The carriers believe that within a few years it will be an exceptional thing to see a farm without a silo in this part of the state.

Among the new silos being built this week near Appleton are those of James Gillespie, route 6, and Theo Scheffler.

ALLEGED THIEF HELD IN JAIL IN OSHKOSH

Roy Connors, who is charged with stealing a suit of clothes from his host, Arnold Loycano, Brighton beach, and with larceny of more than $50, representing the night's receipts at the Brighton beach dance hall, is languishing in the county jail in Oshkosh where he was confined because he was unable to furnish $1,000 bail. Connors was caught in Oshkosh after a chase covering three cities. The young man is alleged to have left the dance hall with the money about 11 o'clock at night, caught a car for Oshkosh and was caught about five hours later.

Station Agents Meet

The Order of Railway Station Agents of Fox River Valley held a meeting at the Valley Inn at Neenah Wednesday afternoon. Appleton was represented by George Sweetman, of the Soo road.

LOW WATER INCREASED FILTRATION DIFFICULTY

More foreign matter is now being taken out of the water that passes through the filtration plant at the pumping station than at any time during the summer according to A. J. Hall, superintendent. This is due in great measure to the low stage of water and to the vegetable growth in the water.

Most of the odor which was so pronounced early in the summer has been removed by Mr. Hall, who is also city chemist. He fought a losing fight for a time, however, until he discovered the odor was developing in the mains and had them flushed.

The amount of water furnished the city this season is greatly in excess of other summers and was especially heavy during the months of June and July.

WOMEN WHO OVERWORK

"Man" may work from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done." In order to keep the home neat and attractive, the children well dressed and tidy, women continually overdo and suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they need to help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine with specific value which overcomes many of the worst forms of female complaints, as the letters constantly being published in this paper will prove.

Advance Formal Showing of New Fashions Gowns Suits Wraps Millinery

ON THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY OF THIS WEEK we will hold an Advance Formal Showing of every new Fashion we have secured this season. The second floor garment salons will display on these days those new style features which are considered best for wear during the entire season. The extreme and the garish have no place in these exhibits—but the good dresser will find hundreds of exclusive modes expressing smartness and good taste.

There are gowns for street wear, for afternoon and evening, suits and wraps—many reproductions of famous Parisian originals, others designed by the foremost of American artists. These models render themselves doubly desirable in refinements of trimming and color—superior fit and quality.

This fashion event of the next three days will not only mark a new era in styling, but it will long be remembered as a distinct turning point of prices. New connections in the central market have enabled us to bring for your inspection garments of distinction at prices of the commonplace. And, added to all these a wide and varied selection.

Wraps

Wonderful coats are important style notes of the advance showing. Soft fabrics of navy or shades of brown fall in full and graceful lines. For wintry winds there are collars of fur while for earlier wear the trimming consists of silk stitching. Often the collar boasts of tassels that add to the graceful effect.

These coats are patterned with an eye to the effect they will have as worn with new gowns and a more harmonious combination cannot be had. Coats have seldom been so desirable in style—nor the prices so low. Although the season is just at its beginning—cool evenings advise the immediate inspection of Autumn wraps.

Gowns

The gown expresses the highest point of fashion this season. For every possible occasion in the social life of the wearer, there is a distinct gown. For every individuality, there is a becoming gown.

An unusual color range gives charm to the times. For those who lend themselves to dark costumes—black is considered ultra correct. Rich browns and navy are pleasing—especially so when relieved by trimming effects in contrasting colors. For these decorative touches, we find wonderful reds that promise great favor.

The evening gowns reflect the richest and most original of designing. Gorgeous effects are produced with the lavish use of sequins, cloth of gold and silver, net and lace. Velvet gowns of emerald and flame strike a brilliant color note. Prices are noticeably low.

Suits

Suits of the new mode have coats of finger tip length, gracefully flaring at the sides or delightfully long, slim and youthful. Skirts show more fullness at the hem. The correct fabrics are soft and rich, with harmonious trimmings of fur and embroidery.

Shades of navy and blues, as well as brown tones are shown. Variety in modeling is the prominent characteristic of the displays of new suits.

Notwithstanding the unprecedented interest in gowns from every quarter—a suit will be a very necessary item of the correct wardrobe during winter months. New blouses are especially designed to enhance the charm of these suits and make them additionally becoming for street wear.

The restrained use of fur, the adaptation of the panel effect, the use of the side flare and unusual sleeves make this a difficult season to leave.

The materials most favored for the latest gowns include Canton crepe, satin back Canton crepe, Roshanara crepe, poiret twill and tricotine. Crepes will continue in the highest favor throughout the winter.

Many are elaborately embroidered in self shades or contrasting colors. Ribbon is frequently used for trimming purposes. Many gowns employ a wheel motif in gros grain ribbon. Others use bows and ruffles of ribbon. Beads are popular in afternoon dresses and chenille is effectively used. Faggoting gives a finishing touch. On several black models, monkey fur is extremely effective.

Hats

The Fall selections of millinery have been daily augmented by arrivals from the best known houses. This section is resplendent in unique shades and clever shapes. Sphinx, easter, fuschia, forest brown, paradise are numbered among the newest colorings.

Tricornes are especially desired in smaller hats and have been lately developed along a variety of lines. With rich feather trimmings of ostrich, haeckle and coque, hatter's plush, panne velvet and duvetyne are used.

If a feather hat is not desired, one may choose cyre ribbon, embroidery or unusual ornaments for decorations. Wooden beads are considered very good.

The last few days have witnessed the arrival of a number of veil hats. Two smaller shapes in red and several brown models are smart with embroidered veils.

The fashion of black is evidenced in entire tables of chic shapes.
